Lafford, 2006-12-08 The Art of Teaching Spanish explores in depth the findings of research in second language acquisition SLA and other language related fields and translates those findings into practical pedagogical tools for current and future Spanish language instructors This volume addresses how theoretical frameworks affect the application of research findings to the teaching of Spanish how logistical factors affect the way research findings can be applied to teach Spanish and how findings from Spanish SLA research would be applicable to Spanish second language teaching and represented in Spanish curricula through objectives and goals as evidenced in pedagogical materials such as textbooks and computer assisted language learning software Top SLA researchers and applied linguists lend their expertise on matters such as foreign language across curriculum programs testing online learning the incorporation of linguistic variation into the classroom heritage language learners the teaching of translation the effects of study abroad and classroom contexts on learning and other pedagogical issues Other common themes of The Art of Teaching Spanish include the rejection of the concept of a monolithic language competence the importance of language as social practice and cultural competence the psycholinguistic component of SLA and the need for more cross fertilization from related fields Decolonising Curricula and Pedagogy in Higher Education Shannon Morreira, Kathy Lockett, Siseko H. Kumalo, Manjeet Ramgotra, 2021-05-31 This book brings together voices from the Global South and Global North to think through what it means in practice to decolonise contemporary higher education Occasionally a theoretical concept arises in academic debate that cuts across individual disciplines Such concepts which may well have already been in use and debated for some time become suddenly newly and increasingly important at a particular historical juncture Right now debates around decolonisation are on the rise globally as we become increasingly aware that many of the old power imbalances brought into play by colonialism have not gone away in the present The authors in this volume bring theories of decoloniality into conversation with the structural cultural institutional relational and personal logics of curriculum pedagogy and teaching practice What is enabled in practice when academics set out to decolonize their teaching spaces What commonalities and differences are there where academics set out to do so in universities across disparate political and geographical spaces This book explores what is at stake when decolonial work is taken from the level of theory into actual practice The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Third World Thematics

Putting Critical Language Pedagogy into Practice Barbara Muszyńska, Holly Hansen-Thomas, 2023-07-07 Putting Critical Language Pedagogy into Practice explores the practice of language teaching through the lens of critical pedagogy reflexivity and the importance of reflexivity for teacher development It also shows how these reflexive practices can contribute to more inclusivity and decolonization of the curriculum A range of experts argue persuasively for epistemological reflexivity in practice and demonstrate how to implement this critical thinking into daily instructional practice Each chapter is structured around three themes in order to help readers connect challenging theoretical ideas into day to day teaching practice Reflection the author's story and issue of concern Epistemic Reflexivity personal epistemologies reflecting on the social conditions influencing the theory underpinning that author's practices Resolved action how the epistemic reflexivity leads to purposeful decision making enacted in classroom contexts Original thoughtful and challenging this text is fascinating and instructional reading for language education advanced students researchers and practitioners The idea for this book emerged during the Fulbright scholarship at Texas Woman's University out of the mutual research interests of the editors
