Megan Greene, 2023-11-20 Building a Nation at War argues that the Chinese Nationalist government's retreat inland during the Sino Japanese War 1937-1945, its consequent need for inland resources and its participation in new scientific and technical relationships with the United States led to fundamental changes in how the Nationalists engaged with science and technology as tools to promote development. The war catalyzed an emphasis on applied sciences, comprehensive economic planning and development of scientific and technical human resources, all of which served the Nationalists' immediate and long term goals. It created an opportunity for the Nationalists to extend control over inland China and over education and industry. It also provided opportunities for China to mobilize transnational networks of Chinese Americans. Chinese in America and the American government and businesses. These groups provided technical advice, ran training programs and helped the Nationalists acquire manufactured goods and tools. J. Megan Greene shows how the Nationalists worked these programs to their advantage even in situations where their American counterparts clearly had the upper hand. Finally, this book shows how, although American advisers and diplomats criticized China for harboring resources rather than putting them into winning the war against Japan, U.S. industrial consultants were also strongly motivated by postwar goals. Legal Reforms and Deprivation of Liberty in Contemporary China Elisa Nesossi, Sarah Biddulph, Flora Sapio, Susan Trevaskes, 2016-06-03 The volume presents an extensive investigation into the process of reforms of detention powers in today's China and offers an in depth analysis of the debates surrounding the reformist attempts. The chapters in this collection demonstrate that legislative and institutional reforms in this area result from political opportunities, openings and tensions at the central institutional levels of political authority and contingent social and political factors. The book examines legal and institutional reforms to institutions of detention and imprisonment that have occurred since the 1990s with a particular focus on the 21st century. Its content follows three particular lines of enquiry concerning the issue of deprivation of liberty in contemporary China The first deals with the academic and theoretical debates on the subject of imprisonment and detention The related chapters explain the difficulties encountered in this area of research and understandings of the discourses of reform through labour in Western and Chinese scholarship The second deals with the specific issues of criminal and administrative forms of deprivation of liberty examining in particular the institutional and legislative dimensions considering the relationship between reforms and criminal justice policy agendas The third assesses the meaning of institutional reforms in the context of the changing state society relationship in contemporary China
