Cyberbullying and Its Impact on Learners

Cyberbullying is a serious issue that affects many learners today. It can be defined as the act of using digital platforms, such as social media, messaging apps, or websites, to harass, threaten, or embarrass someone. This form of bullying is harmful because it can happen at any time and often leaves the victim feeling helpless and exposed.

The emotional impact of cyberbullying on learners is devastating. Firstly, it can lead to depression and sadness. Victims may feel isolated and lose interest in school activities or socializing with others. Secondly, cyberbullying can cause anxiety and fear. Learners may become afraid to attend school or use their phones due to the constant harassment. Lastly, it can seriously damage a learner's self-esteem. Continuous negative messages and public humiliation can make a learner question their worth and identity, which may have long-term effects on their mental health.

Parents and guardians play an important role in preventing cyberbullying, and their lack of action can make the situation worse. When adults do not monitor their children's online activities or ignore signs of distress, they miss the opportunity to stop bullying early. In addition, children who do not feel supported at home may not speak up about being bullied, allowing the abuse to continue. Without guidance, some children may also become bullies themselves. Therefore, active involvement and communication by parents are crucial in the fight against cyberbullying.

The Role of Media in a Democratic Society

Media plays a vital role in informing and educating the public in a democratic society. There are two main types of media: electronic media and print media. Electronic media includes platforms such as television, radio, and social media, which provide fast and wide-reaching communication. Print media, on the other hand, includes newspapers and magazines, which are more traditional but still valuable in spreading information and shaping opinions.

In South Africa, the use of social media has grown significantly. It has become an important tool for communication, activism, and education. Social media is accessible and cost-effective, which makes it especially useful in a country with high levels of inequality. It allows people to voice their opinions, share important news, and stay connected, especially in remote areas.

Cyberbullying, however, is a major concern that has emerged from the use of digital
