Teaching Information Literacy and Writing Studies Grace Veach,2018-09-15 This volume edited by Grace Veach explores leading approaches to foregrounding information literacy in first year college writing courses Chapters describe cross disciplinary efforts underway across higher education as well as innovative approaches of both writing professors and librarians in the classroom This seminal work unpacks the disciplinary implications for information literacy and writing studies as they encounter one another in theory and practice during a time when fact or truth is less important than fitting a predetermined message Topics include reading and writing through the lens of information literacy curriculum design specific writing tasks transfer and assessment The Bedford Researcher Mike Palmquist,2020-06-16 The academic conversations you join and the challenges you face have never been more complex The Bedford Researcher provides the tools to confront this complexity with thoughtfulness and integrity Written to help you strengthen your ability to understand assess and contribute to ongoing conversations about important issues the seventh edition responds to the challenges of an expanding variety of information and the critical importance of evaluating sources and offers the practical help you need to research and write with confidence The Bedford Researcher with 2016 MLA Update Mike Palmquist,2016-07-27 Tech savvy and student friendly The Bedford Researcher addresses the kinds of writing students actually do and the kinds of sources they actually use from multimodal projects and oral presentations to Web sites and digital databases The Bedford Researcher strips away the complexities of research writing across the disciplines and offers the practical help students need to write with confidence while integrating electronic sources and tools into each stage of the process ALT DIS

Christopher L. Schroeder,Helen Fox,Patricia Bizzell,2002 Patricia Bizzell has argued that teachers of composition if they are going to prepare students for success in other classrooms and other contexts cannot afford to ignore alternative forms of discourse that are appearing now in the academy This edited collection of original essays both discusses and at times exemplifies extraordinary examples of just such alternatives discourses that embody new and different forms of intellectual work Together their writings pose and answer some intriguing questions about the use of nonstandard discourse to illustrate unconventional forms of intellectual work role of nonstandard discourse in scholarship from disciplines across the curriculum theoretical complexities of discourses defined as alternative hybrid mixed or constructed relationships among communities discourses and linguistic standards new conditions in composition classrooms made up of more students of English as a foreign language and students using non standard dialects teacher student relationships within the context of alternative forms of intellectual work Using unconventional structures and formats while acknowledging new modes and methods this provocative volume argues eloquently for inclusion of a broader range of expression in academic writing Writing

Programs Worldwide Chris Thaiss, Gerd Bräuer, 2012-07-30 WRITING PROGRAMS WORLDWIDE offers an important global perspective to the growing research literature in the shaping of writing programs The authors of its program profiles show how innovators at a diverse range of universities on six continents have dealt creatively over many years with day to day and long range issues affecting how students across disciplines and languages grow as communicators and learners

Conversations in Context Kathryn Fitzgerald, Kathy Fitzgerald, Heather Bruce, Anna Vogt, Sharon Stasney, 1997-10 Conversations in Context Identity Knowledge and College Writing invites students to learn about and participate in a series of related conversations about student identities the aims of the university and the conventions of academic writing Rather than seeing academic writing as consisting of objective statements of truth the editors of this textbook view it as a social construction of knowledge that requires rhetorical choices as well as empirical research This book represents academic writing as a sequence of continuing conversations within discourse communities provides a variety of opportunities to engage with and participate in these conversations Machine Scoring of Student Essays Patricia Freitag Ericsson, Richard Haswell, 2006-03-15 The current trend toward machine scoring of student work Ericsson and Haswell argue has created an emerging issue with implications for higher education across the disciplines but with particular importance for those in English departments and in administration The academic community has been silent on the issue some would say excluded from it while the commercial entities who develop essay scoring software have been very active Machine Scoring of Student Essays is the first volume to seriously consider the educational mechanisms and consequences of this trend and it offers important discussions from some of the leading scholars in writing assessment Reading and evaluating student writing is a time consuming process yet it is a vital part of both student placement and coursework at post secondary institutions In recent years commercial computer evaluation programs have been developed to score student essays in both of these contexts Two year colleges have been especially drawn to these programs but four year institutions are moving to them as well because of the cost savings they promise Unfortunately to a large extent the programs have been written and institutions are installing them without attention to their instructional validity or adequacy Since the education software companies are moving so rapidly into what they perceive as a promising new market a wider discussion of machine scoring is vital if scholars hope to influence development and or implementation of the programs being created What is needed then is a critical resource to help teachers and administrators evaluate programs they might be considering and to more fully envision the instructional consequences of adopting them And this is the resource that Ericsson and Haswell are providing
