

1. The first step in the assembly process is to check the parts list to ensure that all components are present and correct. This includes the main body, lens, viewfinder, and various internal parts.

2. The next step is to assemble the lens and viewfinder. The lens is mounted onto the viewfinder using the provided screws. It is important to ensure that the lens is properly aligned and secured.

3. The main body is then assembled. This involves attaching the various internal components, such as the gears and springs, to the main frame. The assembly should be done carefully, following the instructions provided in the diagram.

4. Once the main body is assembled, the lens and viewfinder assembly is attached to the front of the main body. This is done by aligning the mounting points and securing the assembly with the provided screws.

5. The final step is to check the completed assembly. This includes checking the alignment of the lens and viewfinder, and ensuring that all components are properly secured. The assembly should be tested to ensure that it is functioning correctly.
