Islam in International Relations Nassef Manabilang Adiong, Raffaele Mauriello, Deina Abdelkader, 2018-11-02 Islam in International Relations Politics and Paradigms analyses the interaction between Islam and IR

It shows how Islam is a conceptualization of ideas that affect people's thinking and behaviour in their capacity to relate with IR as both discipline and practice. This approach challenges Western based and defined epistemological and ontological foundations of the discipline and by doing so contributes to worlding IR as a field of study and practice by presenting and discussing a broad range of standpoints from within Islamic civilization. The volume opens with the presentation and discussion of the international thought of a major Muslim leader followed by a chapter that addresses the ethical practice of IR from traditional pacifism to modern Arab political philosophy. It then switches to applying constructivism as a tool to understand Islam in world affairs and proceeds to address the issue of how the ethnocentric approach of Western academia has hindered our understanding of world affairs. The volume moves on to address the ISIS phenomenon, a current urgent issue in world affairs, and closes with a look at Islamic geopolitics. This comprehensive collection will be of great interest to students, scholars, and policy makers with a focus on the Muslim world. Islam and China's Hong Kong Wai-Yip

Ho, 2013-06-07 Hong Kong is a global city state under the sovereignty of the People's Republic of China and is home to around 250,000 Muslims practicing Islam. However, existing studies of the Muslim majority communities in Asia and the Northwest China largely ignore the Muslim community in Hong Kong. Islam and China's Hong Kong skillfully fills this gap and investigates how ethnic and Chinese speaking Muslims negotiate their identities and the increasing public attention to Islam in Hong Kong. Examining a range of issues and challenges facing Muslims in Hong Kong, this book focuses on the three different diasporic Muslim communities and reveals the city state's triple Islamic heritage and distinctive Islamic culture. It begins with the transition from the colonial to the post colonial era and explores how this has impacted on the experiences of the Muslim diaspora and the ways this shift has compelled the community to adapt to Chinese nationalism whilst forging greater links with the Gulf. Then, with reference to the rise of new media and technology, the book examines the heightened presence of Islam in the Chinese public sphere alongside the emergence of Chinese Islamic websites which have sought to balance transnational Muslim solidarity and sensitivity towards Chinese government's concern of external extremism. Finally, it concludes by investigating Hong Kong's growing awareness of the Muslim minorities' demands for Islamic religious education and how this links with the city state's aspiration to become the new gateway for Islamic finance. Indeed, Wai Yip Ho posits that Hong Kong is now shifting from its role as the broker that bridged East and West during the Cold War to that of a new mediator between China and the Middle East. Drawing on extensive ethnographic research, this book thoughtfully charts a new area of inquiry and as such will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies, Islamic studies, Asian studies, and ethnicity studies. Islam and International Relations D. Abdelkader, N. Adiong, R. Mauriello, 2016-04-15 This edited volume conceives of International Relations (IR) not as a unilateral project but more as an intellectual platform. Its contributors explore Islamic contributions to this field, addressing the theories and practices of the Islamic civilization and of Muslim societies with regards to international affairs and to the discipline of IR. The Muslim World Book Review, 2011

Islamic, Hindu, and Christian Fundamentalism Compared Santosh C. Saha, Thomas K. Carr, 2003 These essays examine the extent of religious influence on governmental and public policies covering recent issues and many countries Contributors are highly recognized scholars in religious historical and political science disciplines Internationale Politik, 2008 Alternative Press Index, 2005 Comprehensive Dissertation Index, 1984 Vols for 1973 include the following subject areas Biological sciences Agriculture Chemistry Environmental sciences Health sciences Engineering Mathematics and statistics Earth sciences Physics Education Psychology Sociology Anthropology History Law political science Business economics Geography regional planning Language literature Fine arts Library information science Mass communications Music Philosophy and Religion
