Caring and Killing Thomas Foth, 2013 Under the Nazi regime in Germany a calculated killing of chronic mentally ill patients took place Nurses executed this program in their everyday practice However suspicions have been raised that psychiatric patients were also assassinated before and after the Nazi regime suggesting that the motives for these killings must be investigated within psychiatric practice itself This book highlights the mechanisms and scientific discourses in place that allowed nurses to perceive patients as unworthy of life This study analyzes patient records as inscriptions that actively intervene in interactions in institutions and that create a specific reality on their own accord The question is not whether the reality represented within the documents is true but rather how documents worked in institutions and what their effects were It is shown how nurses were actively involved in the construction of patients identities and how these documentary identities led to the death of thousands of humans

Neuroepidemiology in Resource-Limited Areas Ding Ding, Wenzhi Wang, Patrick Kwan, 2020-06-04 Neuroepidemiology is a branch of epidemiology involving the study of neurological disease distribution and determinants of frequency in human populations

Neuroepidemiology has been perceived for a long time as a science of incidence prevalence risk factors natural history and prognosis of neurological disorders However the other integral part of neuroepidemiology is experimental neuroepidemiology which is research based on clinical trials of effectiveness or efficacy of various interventions in neurological disorders

Neuroepidemiological researches have been conducted since 1960 s with the development of epidemiological methodology and advance of the clinical neurology Most improvement of neuroepidemiology was in western countries largely in US and European countries This study field has been developed quite late in resource limited areas where 60% of world s populations are living in Disease burden of neurological disorders such as stroke epilepsy migraine neurodegenerated diseases AD PD multiple sclerosis MS amyotrophic lateral sclerosis ALS are extremely heavy in low and middle income countries LAMICs especially with the increasing aging population in these regions Because of their progressive and disabling nature these neurological disorders have major adverse personal social and economic consequences Prevention and early detection are critical because there are no cures and the clinical diagnosis typically occurs after substantial and often irreversible neuronal loss

Palliative care for older people Lieve Van den Block, Gwenda Albers, Sandra Martins Pereira, Bregje Onwuteaka-Philipsen, Roeline Pasman, Luc Deliens, 2015-05-07 Current projections indicate that by 2050 the number of people aged over 80 years old will rise to 395 million and that by this date 25 30% of people over the age of 85 will show some degree of cognitive decline Palliative care for older people A public health perspective provides a comprehensive account of the current state of palliative care for older people worldwide and illustrates the range of concomitant issues that as the global population ages will ever more acutely shape the decisions of policy makers and care givers The book begins by outlining the range of policies towards palliative care for older people that are found worldwide It follows this by examining an array of socio cultural issues and palliative care initiatives from the care implications of health trajectories of older people to the spiritual requirements of palliative care patients and from the need to encourage compassion towards end of life care within communities to the development of care pathways for older people Palliative care for older people A public health perspective is a valuable resource for professionals and academics in a range of healthcare and public health fields to understand the current state of policy work from around the world The book also highlights the social cultural considerations that influence the difficult decisions that those involved in palliative care face not least patients themselves and offers examples of good practice and recommendations to inspire support and direct healthcare policy and decision making at organisational regional national and international levels
