Features of a Newspaper Report

The main purpose of a newspaper report is to give the reader information about an event that has happened.

Below are some of the main features you should use when writing your own newspaper report.

Headline

This is the title of the newspaper report. It should be short but snappy, clear and specific, telling the reader what the story is about, and be interesting enough to encourage them to carry on reading the report.

Third Person & Past Tense

In a newspaper report, you are writing about other people, not yourself. You need to write in the third person and use pronouns such as 'he', 'she', or 'they'.

The event that you are writing about has already happened, so you need to make sure you write consistently in the past tense.

Introduction

In the opening paragraph, you need to give as much information about the 'where, when, who, why and how' of the story as you can. This helps the reader understand what the report will be about, and sets the scene for them.

Main paragraphs

In the main paragraphs of the report, you should give the full details of the event you are writing about. This will include facts, as well as opinions - you might want to include some quotations from people who witnessed the event.

Images & Captions

Photographs, pictures or diagrams are often used alongside a report, to help the reader further understand the contents. A caption is written underneath - this is a short sentence that explains what the image is showing.

Conclusion

The final paragraph should sum up all of the events in the main paragraphs. At the very end of the report, you need to include a 'by line' - this is the reporter's name - so, yours!

Grammarsaurus Key Stage 2 Mitch Hudson, Anna Richards, 2021-06-10 This is the ultimate all in one guide for teaching writing spelling punctuation and grammar in the primary classroom Providing practical advice on teaching grammar and writing techniques through the use of non fiction texts Grammarsaurus is closely aligned to the National Curriculum and ensures teachers are addressing the right topics at the right time Each chapter focuses on a non fiction text type instructions explanations non chronological reports diary entries newspaper reports and persuasive texts There are photocopiable model texts for each year group along with annotated versions guiding teachers through language features grammar spelling and punctuation opportunities saving hours of lesson planning Mitch Hudson and Anna Richards expert teachers and creators of the popular Grammarsaurus website answer common questions from teachers When should I teach this punctuation mark or Which spellings should I be teaching my Year 3 class With model texts covering a range of subject areas and up to date content using the latest curriculum framework teachers can feel confident in tackling writing and SPaG across all the key areas of non fiction Please note that the PDF eBook version of this book cannot be printed or saved in any other format It is intended for use on interactive whiteboards and projectors only Talk For Writing Across The Curriculum Corbett, Pie, Strong, Julia, 2011-08-01 Talk for Writing across the Curriculum takes a dynamic and creative look at how writing non fiction can be taught across the curriculum Placing Students at the Heart of Creative Learning Nick Owen, 2011-10-10 Developing a Creative Curriculum shows teachers how to introduce creativity to what is often seen as a prescriptive curriculum and addresses the tensions between innovation and the requirement to follow the curriculum Proceedings of the British Psychological Society British Psychological Society, 1998 The School Librarian, 2005 Time and Timelines in the Primary School Pat Hoodless, 1996 Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts, 2007-04 The Journal of Classics Teaching, 2004 The Times Index, 2007 Indexes the Times and its supplements JACT Bulletin Joint Association of Classical Teachers, 1991 Benn's Media, 2003 Current Index to Journals in Education, 1994 The Children's Buyer's Guide, 2005 JACT Review, 1996 The Language of Newspapers Danuta Reah, 2002 Prospero, 2003 Aspects of Newspaper Language - newspaper coverage with focus on the example of the Harold Shipman case Denise Sajdl, 2007-04-17 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 2 0 Ruhr University of Bochum Englisches Seminar course Legal Language language English abstract Media are the dominating presenters of language in our society News language has a mass audience it s the few talking to the many and thus has enormous power and influence in the world This term paper will analyse some important works of linguistic theory concerning the language in the news especially focussing on the print language of newspapers Chapter 2 wants to give a brief introduction into the field that means it gives some definitions extracted from different sources to the general meaning of newspaper language The theoretical background knowledge like e g explicit linguistic tools that are characteristic and exclusively found in newspaper language are being presented in the following chapters Here I will try to demonstrate in how far the role of linguistic structure is extremely important in the construction of language in the news The explained analytic devices will be better illustrated by examples taken from select British newspapers all dealing with the Harold Shipman case one of the most spectacular event in British media Harold Shipman a British general practitioner was the most prolific known serial killer in the history of Britain who killed around 250 patients from the 1970s to 1998 mainly elderly women who lived alone and were otherwise in good health He was eventually caught after he ineptly forged a new will in the name of one of his victims Shipman was convicted on 15 sample charges in 2000 and sentenced to life imprisonment Dr Death the media gave him this nickname committed suicide in 2004 without admitting to or explaining his crimes The style of the Sun newspaper is very different from that of the Guardian and the readerships of the two papers are very distinct in socioeconomical terms Therefore the reports by four different British newspapers concerning this topic are being examined and compared namely the Guardian the Daily Telegraph the Daily Mirror and The Sun After all this paper wants to prove that news is a representation of a construction of social and economic values and not a value free reflection of facts It is written to look at the way the news texts present and to a certain extent create or at least influence aspects of our in this case the British culture and society

Language Change in English Newspaper Editorials Ingrid Westin, 2016-08-09 This work is a corpus based study of the language of English up market quality newspaper editorials covering the period 1900 1993 CENE the Corpus of English Newspaper Editorials was compiled for the purposes of this study and comprises editorials from the Daily Telegraph the Guardian and The Times chosen to represent periods at ten year intervals The language of the editorials was investigated with regard to features that previous research had proved to be markers of such types of discourse as might be of interest to an investigation of the development of the language of newspaper editorials To begin with sets of features associated with the empirically defined dimensions of linguistic variation presented in Biber 1988 were compared across decades and newspapers these dimensions included personal involvement and information density narrative discourse argumentative discourse abstract discourse and explicit reference However since the study showed that the features within each set often developed in diverging directions the old sets were broken up and new ones formed on the basis of change and continuity as well as of shared linguistic stylistic functions specific for newspaper editorials among the features involved It then became apparent that during the 20th century the language of the editorials developed towards greater information density and lexical specificity and diversity but at the same time towards greater informality in so far as the use of conversational features increased The narrative quality of the editorials at the beginning of the century gradually decreased whereas their reporting and argumentative functions remained the same over the years When the features were compared across the newspapers analyzed a clear distinction was noticed between The Times and the Guardian The language of the Guardian was the most informal and the most narrative while that of The Times was the least so The information density was the highest in The Times and the lowest in the Guardian In these respects the Daily Telegraph took an intermediate position The editorials of the Guardian were more argumentative than those of both the Daily Telegraph and The Times As regards lexical specificity and diversity as well as sentence complexity the Daily Telegraph scored the highest and The Times the lowest while the results obtained for the Guardian were in between the two
