

2-2 Journal: Consumer Behavior and Drivers of Demand: Who Is in the Driver's Seat?

1. Was I an discretionary purchaser or not?

The healthiest product I will talk about are "Blue Light Glasses". This was a discretionary purchase due to the need I had for them. I was getting constant headaches. I spent at day at work on a computer. For the past 18+ years, I've read everything on my laptop during schoolwork. Plus, the use of my cellphone and TV watching. My headaches turned into migraines that I was getting once regularly. I knew it was the "screen time" that affects my vision. Because if I spent a day out and about and not using a computer with blue light filter time, my vision is perfectly fine.

2. Were you the primary or secondary consumer? In other words, were you the decision maker regarding the purchase, or did others influence you?

I believe I was the secondary consumer. I talked about these glasses that a few co-workers that use them. They told me that they are available on Amazon and very affordable. Since I do not have any type of vision insurance, I knew it would be a little costly to go to an actual eye doctor. My father recently went and told his eyes checked and ended with vision insurance it cost him a couple hundred dollars to get new lenses for his glasses. So, I believe due to the talk about price with my dad on their affordability and easy accessibility, of these blue light glasses, I was influenced to purchase them.

3. How do primary consumer decisions differ from other consumers when making purchase decisions? Describe at least three differences and use examples to illustrate.
