Multimodal Teaching and Learning Gunther Kress,Carey Jewitt,Jon Ogborn,Tsatsarelis Charalampos,2001-10-04 Multimodal Teaching and Learning The Rhetorics of the Science Classroom achieves the rare goal of explicating multimodality as both theory and practice This is an importantly concrete analysis derived from extended careful and interdisciplinary observation which challenges our thinking about how meaning and knowledge are shaped by our modes of communication The book appeals to a wide range of scholars and practitioners far beyond the science classroom Professor Ron Scollon Department of Linguistics Georgetown University This book takes a radically different look at communication and in doing so presents a series of challenges to accepted views on language on communication on teaching and above all on learning Drawing on extensive research in science classrooms it presents a view of communication in which language is not necessarily communication image gesture speech writing models spatial and bodily codes The action of students in learning is radically rethought all participants in communication are seen as active transformers of the meaning resources around them and this approach opens a new window on the processes of learning
