Linde Hydraulic Control (LHC)

Digital electro-hydraulic controller

Integrates in control with an electrical train and features the latest control technology, based on a hydraulic controller, a compact electronic controller equipped with a very powerful microcontroller, performs all control functions for the drive unit and the working hydraulics (2).

Adaptation to various trucks

The electronic control unit is capable of controlling trucks from a variety of series and with different drive systems. To save fitting time, preselected set points, such as max. stroke forward and working fluid, already identify the truck.

Troubleshooting

The procedure of the electronic control unit analysis includes scan-light inputs. The electronic diagnostic digital module can capture errors, and displays an error message on the working instrument on the dash dashboard. In addition, the control unit accumulates a variety of messages according to the user's layout selection.

- Working light flashes
- Resonance indicator of the internal communication system
- The mast tilts and automatically stabilizes and off the target state
- The mast tilts in the emergency function, the internal communication system switches off
- An error code appears on display

These functions can be activated by switching off the communication system with the key switch. During a scan, the control unit shows whether the user is still present. If the user is no longer present, the truck displays a visual warning. If the user permits, the error code response on the display will one of the messages from the dash unit.

Changing the controller
▲ Information

Problems regarding component damage due to electrolytic discharge (leakage of storage in working instruments will occur if the controller is stored).

The controller is equipped with a "float plug" which is attached to the back to avoid electrolysis. Connections must never be left open. The upper part number and the software version of the controller can be read out via the back connector.

▲ Note

If the controller is returned, the preselected work unit controller must be identified and duly adapted to the code numbers. All necessary information is available on the code number.
