The Science of Beach Lifeguarding
Mike Tipton, Adam Wooler, 2018-09-03 The World Health Organization's recently published Global Report on Drowning found that drowning is the third leading cause of unintentional injury death worldwide making the information presented in this new book an important part of the global effort to reduce this health risk Written by leading researchers and academics from around the world The Science of Beach Lifeguarding focuses on the scientific evidence that underpins what is taught to and practised by beach lifeguards It is the first book to pull together all the different areas involved in beach lifeguarding and evaluate their evidence base An accessible and informative reference underpinned by the best current research the book's key themes cover the context of beach lifeguarding the physical environment in which lifeguards work medical aspects practical lifeguarding techniques physiological standards for lifeguards safety education and future developments in beach lifeguarding The book presents groundbreaking work quantifying the scientific rationale behind a universally accepted fitness standard It supplies an in depth examination of the risks and hazards associated with the beach environment including rip currents and cold water immersion The book includes a state of the art review of drowning and a comprehensive chapter on first aid Detailing the recently announced 2015 European Resuscitation Council Guidelines this book is a must have for beach lifeguards beach lifeguard managers search and rescue personnel paramedics sports scientists health and safety practitioners and occupational health practitioners Drowning by Accident Elizabeth

Meinhard,2022-02-15 Drowning By Accident explains why it is so easy to drown where accidents happen and how to save lives by early rescue and resuscitation More than 600 people die by drowning in Britain every year Swimming is promoted as a particularly safe form of exercise so that swimmers forget or ignore the dangers of frigid lakes swollen rivers incoming tides or outgoing rip currents Drowning accidents take place because we don't recognise water as a hostile environment We overestimate the strength and endurance of our bodies and underestimate the power and deceptiveness of water Year after year victims lose their lives in typical drowning accidents often sinking so quickly and silently that nearby family friends and onlookers fail to notice the tragedy taking place close beside them Babies drown in baths Toddlers drown in garden ponds School children fall off rafts Teenagers strike too far from the shore Pensioners wade into rivers to save their dogs Victims often die within minutes of sinking beneath the surface A quarter of those who reach hospital alive will also die while others survive with severe permanent brain damage This means that it is vitally important for parents grandparents teachers lifeguards and lawmakers to recognise the risks and prevent drowning accidents before they take place Lifeguarding
