Chapter 1:

Lifespan development: Field of study that examines patterns of growth, change, and stability in behavior that occur throughout the entire lifespan.

Scientific method: Process of posing and answering questions using careful, controlled techniques that include systematic, orderly observation and the collection of data. Three major steps:

- Identifying questions of interest
- Formulating an explanation
- Carrying out research that either lends support or refutes it

Piaget's concepts of cognitive development: Proposed people move through fixed stages. In each stage, quantity and quality of information grows. Proposed thinking is arranged in schemes (organized patterns that represent behaviors and actions).

Proposed growth of children's understanding is due to:

- Assimilation
- Accommodation

Individualism: The dominant Western philosophy that emphasizes personal identity, uniqueness, freedom, and the worth of the individual.

Collectivism: The dominant Asian cultural philosophy that emphasizes the welfare of the group at the expense of one's own personal well-being.

Research methods:

Correlational research: Seeks to identify whether an association or relationship between two factors exists. Cannot determine causation.

Naturalistic observation: Observation of the naturally occurring behavior without intervention in the situation.

Experimental research: Designed to discover causal relationships between factors. Researchers introduce change and observe effects. Environment is carefully controlled. Some questions cannot be answered this way for technical or ethical reasons.

Case studies: Involve extensive, in-depth interviews with an individual or a small group of individuals.

Survey research: Group of people who represent a larger population are asked questions about their attitudes, behavior, or thinking.

Independent vs. dependent variable: Independent variables are manipulated by researcher. Dependent variables are used to measure effect of the independent variable.
