Lafrique Des Grands Lacs Annuaire:

The Political Economy of the Great Lakes Region in Africa Stefaan Marysse, 2005-10-21 This book examines the international factors such as enforced democracy and globalization that have affected the Great Lakes region of Africa. The horrendous consequences in terms of violence and human suffering of the events in this area have been exhibited in the media; however, news coverage after 1994 was at times unreliable. This book takes a look at life since then, adopting an independent and on occasion controversial perspective.

Victim Organisations and the Politics of Reparation Heidy Rombouts, 2004. Reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations is a contemporary issue gaining increased attention in both national and international politics. Post conflict societies have to face the legacies of the dark past and dealing with a large group of victims is one of them. Transitional justice mechanisms trying to cope with the past should not overlook the issue of reparation. This research demonstrates how reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations differs from reparation for isolated violations. The Rwandan case study unveils the role of victim organisations in and the competition and politicisation of the reparation debate. Although reparation for victims is a crucial element in transitional justice, it becomes clear that the way in which the reparation debate unfolds does not necessarily contribute to the peaceful future of a post conflict society. This study argues that remedying the process and debate of the search for reparation will lead to an improved and more constructive reparation policy. Heidy Rombouts is a legal and social scientist. 1997 Master of Laws. 1999 Master in Social and Political Sciences. Catholic University of Leuven. In 2004 she obtained a PhD degree in Social and Political Sciences at the University of Antwerp for her research on victim organisations and the politics of reparation. For several years she has been conducting research on transitional justice, human rights and post conflict situations, including extensive field research in South Africa and Rwanda.

Struggles for Citizenship in Africa Bronwen Manby, 2013-04-04. Hundreds of thousands of people living in Africa find themselves non persons in the only state they have ever known. Because they are not recognised as citizens, they cannot get their children registered at birth or entered in school or university; they cannot access state health services; they cannot obtain travel documents or employment without a work permit; and if they leave the country, they may not be able to return. Most of all, they cannot vote, stand for office or work for state institutions. Ultimately, such policies can lead to economic and political disaster or even war. The conflicts in both Côte d'Ivoire and the Democratic Republic of Congo have had at their hearts the very right of one part of the national population to share with others on equal terms the rights and duties of citizenship. This book brings together new material from across Africa of the most egregious examples of citizenship discrimination and makes the case for urgent reform of the law.

Property Rights and Governance in Artisanal and Small-Scale Mining Chris Huggins, 2020-06-29. Disputes and dispossession of property rights in the mining sector are causes of injustice, violence and forced resettlement around the world. This comprehensive volume examines mining particularly what is often called Artisanal and Small Scale Mining from a perspective of governance and rights. It focuses on rights to land, natural resources and other forms of material property. Many projects, policies and laws targeting artisanal and small scale mining are embedded in problematic conceptual and institutional frameworks that implicitly stigmatise and discipline artisanal and small scale miners. This collection takes a critical look at notions of property to destabilise some of these frameworks. The chapters in this book are notable for their recognition of the agency of artisanal miners and local communities within the uneven hierarchies in which they are embedded and their acknowledgement of the difficulties of state regulation of such a complex set of issues. The authors use a variety of theoretical tools engaging with political economy, political ecology, classical economic theory and socio-cultural concepts derived from ethnographic methods. This book includes insightful case studies from Colombia, Democratic Republic of Congo, Ghana, Mongolia, South Africa and Zambia and is an important resource for academics, development practitioners and policy makers. It was originally published online as a special issue of Third World Thematics. Africa's World War Gerard Prunier, 2008-12-31. The Rwandan genocide sparked a horrific bloodbath that swept across sub-Saharan Africa ultimately leading to the deaths of some four million people. In this extraordinary history of the recent wars in Central Africa, Gerard Prunier offers a gripping account of how one grisly episode laid the groundwork for a sweeping and disastrous upheaval. Prunier vividly describes the grisly aftermath of the Rwandan genocide when some two million refugees, a third of Rwanda's population, fled to exile in Zaire in 1996. The new Rwandan regime then crossed into Zaire and attacked the refugees, slaughtering upwards of 400,000 people. The Rwandan forces then turned on Zaire's despotic President Mobutu and with the help of a number of allied African countries overthrew him. But as Prunier shows, the collapse of the Mobutu regime and the ascension of the corrupt and erratic Laurent-Désiré Kabila created a power vacuum that drew Rwanda, Uganda, Angola, Zimbabwe, Sudan and other African nations into an extended and chaotic war. The heart of the book documents how the whole core of the African continent became engulfed in an intractable and bloody conflict after 1998, a devastating war that only wound down following the assassination of Kabila in 2001. Prunier not only captures all this in his riveting narrative but he also indicts the international community for its utter lack of interest in what was then the largest conflict in the world. Africa's World War is a gripping eyewitness account of the most bloody upheaval of recent times, a book of passionate and unblinking intensity that is our best record to date of one of the great tragedies of the post-Cold War era. L'Afrique des Grands Lacs Stefaan Marysse, Filip Reyntjens, 2007-10-01. Confronting Land and Property Problems for Peace Shinichi Takeuchi, 2014-06-05 This collection clarifies the background of land and property problems in conflict affected settings and explores appropriate policy measures for peace building While land and property problems exist in any society they can be particularly exacerbated in conflict affected settings characterized by unstable security weak governance loss of proper documentation as well as the return of refugees and Internally Displaced Persons Unless these problems are properly addressed they can destabilize fragile political order and hinder economic recovery Although tackling land and property problems is an important challenge for peace building it has been relatively neglected in recent debates about liberal peace building as a result of the strong focus on state level institution building such as security sector reforms and transitional justice Using rich original data from eight conflict affected countries this book examines the topic from the viewpoint of State society relationship In contrast to previous literature this volume analyses land and property problems in conflict afflicted areas from a long term perspective of state building and economic development rather than concentrating only on the immediate aftermath of the conflict The long term perspective enables not only an understanding of the root causes of the property problems in conflict affected countries but also elaboration of effective policy measures for peace Contributors are area specialists and the eight case study countries have been carefully selected for comparative study The collection applies a common framework to a diverse group of countries South Sudan Uganda Rwanda Burundi Cambodia Timor Leste Colombia and Bosnia Herzegovina

L'Afrique des Grands Lacs Stefaan Marysse, Filip Reyntjens, 2005-10 Au

Rwanda après l'élimination de l'opposition politique en 2003 les derniers vestiges du peu de société civile qui restait ont été broyés par un pouvoir qui ne cache plus sa nature totalitaire. La communauté internationale qui a toujours soutenu le régime ainsi remboursant le crime génocide se rend compte de l'impasse mais semble incapable d'y apporter une réponse cohérente. La RDC n'a pas tenté en mesure de réussir sa transition dans le délai initialement prévu c'est-à-dire au milieu de 2005. Elle espère parcourir son processus électoral au Printemps 2006 mais de nombreux obstacles demeurent. L'autorité de l'État sur l'ensemble du territoire national n'est pas établie, l'armée n'est pas unifiée, les conditions matérielles pour l'organisation d'élections ne sont pas réunies et surtout une frange importante de la classe politique préfère le statu quo à tout autre recours à la volonté populaire. Quant au Burundi, semble avoir gagné le pari de sa transition. Un marathon électoral a provoqué un raz de marée et débouché sur l'entrée en scène d'une nouvelle génération de politiciens. Mais il faut se garder d'un optimisme mesuré, les conditions sont aujourd'hui plus favorables que lors de la précédente transition démocratique qui en 1993 avait débouché sur une longue guerre civile. Cet annuaire offre des clés de lecture de l'évolution de la région des grands lacs en 2004 et au premier trimestre de 2005.
