Current Index to Journals in Education, 1998 Please Understand Me II David Keirsey, 1998 For the past twenty years Keirsev has continued to investigate personality differences to refine his theory of the four temperaments and to define the facets of character that distinguish one from another His findings form the basis of Please Understand Me II an updated and greatly expanded edition of the book far more comprehensive and coherent than the original and yet with much of the same easy accessibility One major addition is Keirsey's view of how the temperaments differ in the intelligent roles they are most likely to develop Each of us he says has four kinds of intelligence tactical logistical diplomatic strategic though one of the four interests us far more than the others and thus gets far more practice than the rest Like four suits in a hand of cards we each have a long suit and a short suit in what interests us and what we do well and fortunate indeed are those whose work matches their skills As in the original book Please Understand Me II begins with The Keirsey Temperament Sorter the most used personality inventory in the world But also included is The Keirsey Four Types Sorter a new short questionnaire that identifies one s basic temperament and then ranks one s second third and fourth choices Share this new sorter with friends and family and get set for a lively and fascinating discussion of personal styles EMS Field Training Officer Robert G. Nixon, 2004 Appropriate for stand alone training programs as a reference book for current EMS training officers or as a self study tool for new EMS training officers This unique text addresses the EMS field training officer the person who has been promoted to either participate in training evaluating employees or who is the training coordinator for the EMS provider It addresses the fundamentals needed in being a good training officer providing information on motivating and communicating with their students as well as giving information on principles and practices involved in teaching adults Organized into five sections each asks the user to do a self evaluation to determine personal traits motivating factors hidden drivers management styles learning preferences and more Journal of the Freshman Year Experience ,1993 Instructors In Mixed Company Dan Rothwell,2000-07 Manual Carol Carter, 2002-09-02 The Essential Department Chair Jeffrey L. Buller, 2006-03-15 There are many guides for academic administrators that explore differing philosophies of administration theoretical approaches to management and leadership and new trends in higher education administration Books such as these can inspire department chairs to develop a major new vision for their discipline or even their entire institution But in order to make that vision a reality chairs must know how to excel at the many administrative tasks assigned to them For instance how do you cultivate a potential donor for much needed departmental resources. How do you interview someone when your dean assigns you to a committee searching for an administrator in a different academic area. How do you fire someone How do you get your department members to work together more harmoniously. How do you keep the people who report to you motivated and capable of seeing the big picture. This book is about the how of academic administration Based on a series of workshops given by the author in the area of faculty and administrative development each topic deals concisely with the most important information chairs will want to have at their fingertips when faced with a particular challenge or opportunity. Intended to be a ready reference that chairs turn to as needed this book emphasizes proven solutions over untested theories and stresses what chairs need to know now in order to be most successful in their administrative positions
