moving extraordinarily eloquent and passionate memoir Harold Bloom Royak Hakakian was twelve years old in 1979 when the revolution swept through Tehran The daughter of an esteemed poet she grew up in a household that hummed with intellectual life Family gatherings were punctuated by witty satirical exchanges and spontaneous recitations of poetry But the Hakakians were also part of the very small Jewish population in Iran who witnessed the iron fist of the Islamic fundamentalists increasingly tightening its grip It is with the innocent confusion of youth that Royak describes her discovery of a swastika a plus sign gone awry a dark reptile with four hungry claws painted on the wall near her home As a schoolgirl she watched as friends accused of reading blasphemous books were escorted from class by Islamic Society guards never to return Only much later did Royak learn that she was spared a similar fate because her teacher admired her writing Hakakian relates in the most poignant and at times painful ways what life was like for women after the country fell into the hands of Islamic fundamentalists who had declared an insidious war against them but we see it all through the eyes of a strong youthful optimist who somehow came up in the world believing that she was different knowing she was special A wonderfully evocative story Journey from the Land of No reveals an Iran most readers have not encountered and re creates a time and place dominated by religious fanaticism violence and fear with an open heart
