Abhijit Mitra,2013-08-13 Mangroves are basically salt tolerant forest ecosystems found mainly in tropical and sub tropical inter tidal regions Till about 1960s mangroves were largely viewed as economically unproductive areas and were therefore destroyed for reclaiming land for various economic and commercial activities Gradually with the passage of time the economic and ecological benefits of mangroves have become visible and their importance is now well appreciated Today mangroves are observed in about 30 countries in tropical subtropical regions covering an area of about 99 300 Sq Km However during the past 50 years over 50% of the mangrove cover has been lost mainly because of the increased pressure of human activities like shrimp farming and agriculture forestry salt extraction urban development tourist development and infrastructure Also dam on rivers contamination of sea waters caused by heavy metals oil spills pesticides and other products etc have been found to be responsible for the decline of mangroves Although the temperature effect on growth and species diversity is not known sea level rise may pose a serious threat to these ecosystems The present book addresses all these important issues in separate chapters with some interesting case studies whose data may serve as pathfinder for future researches in the sphere of the influence of climate change on mangrove ecosystem The role of mangroves in the sector of bioremediation is a unique feather in the crown of this coastal and brackishwater vegetation that may be taken up by the coastal industries in order to maintain the health of ambient environment This book seeks to discover and to assess the vulnerability of climate change on mangrove flora and fauna their role in carbon sequestration and some interesting case studies by some groups of dedicated researchers that may serve as the basis of future climate related policies      Atkinson's Evening Post, and Philadelphia Saturday News ,1923 SCC Library has 1974 89 plus scattered issues      Public Accounts for the Fiscal Year Ended ... ,1920      Annual Report of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan for the Year Michigan.
