Romance Linguistics 2010 Julia Herschensohn, 2011-11-30 This volume contains a selection of nineteen peer reviewed papers from the 40th annual Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages LSRL held at the University of Washington in March 2010 In addition to overviews of Romance linguistics by the editor and by Jurgen Klausenburger in the keynote article contributions cover a variety of linguistic theoretical topics and a range of Romance languages including Old and Modern French Italian Romanian as well as several dialects of Spanish and Portuguese A number of papers deal with the morphophonology of Peninsular Spanish languages agreement anomalies generic interpretation and the syntax semantics of determiners particularly of Romanian Both the topics and the languages discussed in this volume are tied together by a number of leitmotifs and several articles present phenomena not previously considered The volume makes significant contributions both to the documentation of Romance languages and to linguistic theory and will be of interest to Romance and general linguistics scholars

Evaluation of Translation Technology Walter Daelemans, Véronique Hoste, 2010 This collection of scholarly articles asks the question How useful is translation technology Pointing to the need for a widely used and reliable way to test the efficiency of language translation programs the presenters show that commercial tools such as translation memories and translation workbenches are popular and their developers find them useful in terms of productivity consistency or quality However these claims are rarely proven using objective comparative studies and this group describes several new statistical approaches to more rigorous evaluation methods Product Description The Software Encyclopedia, 1986

The Action-oriented Approach Enrica Piccardo, Brian North, 2019-07-24 This book presents the background to the current shift in language education towards action oriented action based teaching and provides a theorization of the Action oriented Approach AoA It discusses the concepts and theories that paved the way for the AoA and explores their relevance for the way language education is conceived and implemented in the classroom In the process it revisits the concept of competence and discusses the dynamic notions of mediation and plurilingualism The authors explain the way in which the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages CEFR and its recent update the CEFR Companion Volume broaden the scope of language education in particular in relation to the actional turn The book provides scholars and practitioners with a research informed description of the AoA explains its implications for curriculum planning teaching and assessment and elaborates on its pedagogical implications ePub - Proceedings of the 4th European Conference on Intellectual Capital, 2012

Describing Verb Valency Mário Alberto Perini, 2015-09-15 The elaboration of linguistic theories depends on the existence of adequate descriptions of particular languages otherwise theories will be poorly grounded on empirical data This book starts from theoretical points of wide acceptance among linguists and goes on to present a descriptive metalanguage able to express the facts of verb valency which constitute one of the core areas in linguistic description Most of the data come from an extensive survey under way of the valency of Portuguese verbs but the present work s relevance goes well beyond that and incorporates a proposal applicable to other European languages illustrated by the wealth of English examples included in the exposition Among the topics discussed are the syntactic component of constructions following here a proposal recently published in Culicover and Jackendoff s Simpler Syntax delimitation and definition of semantic roles the role of linking rules and their relation to prototypes and the connection between linguistic expressions and cognitive units such as frames and schemata The result is a notational system flexible and robust enough to describe all aspects of verb valency Bibliografía española, 2003

Hardwood Reforestation and Restoration Daniel Gagnon, Benoit Truax, 2019-04-25 Hardwood dominated temperate forests mostly in Eastern North America Europe North East Asia provide valuable renewable timber and numerous ecosystem services Many of these forests have been subjected to harvesting or conversion to agriculture sometimes over centuries that have greatly reduced their former extent and diversity Natural regeneration following harvesting or during post agricultural succession has often failed to restore these forests adequately Past harvesting practices and the valuable timber of some species have led to a reduction in their abundance The loss of apex predators has caused herbivore populations to increase and exert intense browsing pressure on hardwood regeneration often preventing it Particularly important are fruit nut and acorn bearing species because of their vital role in forest food webs and biodiversity Restoring hardwood species to natural forests in which they were formerly more abundant will require a number of forest management actions e g resistant hybrids deer exclosures protectors enrichment planting underplanting etc Similarly reforestation areas that were once natural forests will also require new silvicultural knowledge Global warming trends will intensify the need for interventions to maintain the diversity and function of temperate hardwood forests as well as for increase hardwood reforestation Gestión de proyectos con
