Global Status Report on Road Safety 2018 World Health Organization, 2019-01-10 The Global status report on road safety 2018 launched by WHO in December 2018 highlights that the number of annual road traffic deaths has reached 1 35 million Road traffic injuries are now the leading killer of people aged 5 29 years The burden is disproportionately borne by pedestrians cyclists and motorcyclists in particular those living in developing countries The report suggests that the price paid for mobility is too high especially because proven measures exist Drastic action is needed to put these measures in place to meet any future global target that might be set and save lives

Cyber War Jens David Ohlin, Kevin Govern, Claire Finkelstein, 2015-03-19 Cyber weapons and cyber warfare have become one of the most dangerous innovations of recent years and a significant threat to national security Cyber weapons can imperil economic political and military systems by a single act or by multifaceted orders of effect with wide ranging potential consequences Unlike past forms of warfare circumscribed by centuries of just war tradition and Law of Armed Conflict prohibitions cyber warfare occupies a particularly ambiguous status in the conventions of the laws of war Furthermore cyber attacks put immense pressure on conventional notions of sovereignty and the moral and legal doctrines that were developed to regulate them This book written by an unrivalled set of experts assists in proactively addressing the ethical and legal issues that surround cyber warfare by considering first whether the Laws of Armed Conflict apply to cyberspace just as they do to traditional warfare and second the ethical position of cyber warfare against the background of our generally recognized moral traditions in armed conflict The book explores these moral and legal issues in three categories First it addresses foundational questions regarding cyber attacks What are they and what does it mean to talk about a cyber war The book presents alternative views concerning whether the laws of war should apply or whether transnational criminal law or some other peacetime framework is more appropriate or if there is a tipping point that enables the laws of war to be used Secondly it examines the key principles of jus in bello to determine how they might be applied to cyber conflicts in particular those of proportionality and necessity It also investigates the distinction between civilian and combatant in this context and studies the level of causation necessary to elicit a response looking at the notion of a proximate cause Finally it analyses the specific operational realities implicated by particular regulatory regimes This book is unmissable reading for anyone interested in the impact of cyber warfare on international law and the laws of war

Directory of International Mail United States Postal Service,1997      Economy of Belarus ,2004      Innovation for Sustainable Development Review of Belarus Ariel Ivanier,2017 This publication presents a general review of the Belarusian national legal and institutional framework for innovation It also highlights the status and progress of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs in the country including an assessment of national development strategies within the context of ongoing international initiatives and a review of recent eco innovation projects in such development strategies and government programmes      Moving to Market John S. Strong,John Robert Meyer,1996 This text examines the rail road water and air transport in the former Soviet Union and discusses the policy issues involved in making a transition to the open market It concludes that the physical capacity is in place but services need to be improved      Dictionary Catalog of the National Agricultural Library, 1862-1965 National Agricultural Library (U.S.),1967      Determinants of Individual Unemployment Duration in a Transition Economy Vera Alexandrovna Adamchik,1999 This study analyzes which factors affect the probability of exiting to employment and hence the duration of unemployment spells in a transition economy Poland The first empirical essay tests the key predictions from job search theory about the relationship between the duration of an unemployment spell and the reservation wage We applied a quasi structural model and our results indicate that the relationships predicted by optimal job search theory are certainly present in the Polish data reservation wages directly affect durations of unemployment but seem to decline over time In the next essay we analyze the impact of unemployment benefits and other factors on the probability of exiting to employment with hazard models All results indicate that some features of the Polish unemployment benefit system effective in 1994 1997 discouraged exits from unemployment status The estimated overall effect of unemployment benefits on the probability of exiting to a job is negative and the hazard rate to employment increases dramatically as the benefit expiration moment approaches At the same time restrictions imposed on the level of additional income of benefit recipients seemed to prevent this disincentive effect from being stronger The final essay presents a new direction of economic research in transition economics namely the influence of the ownership status on labor market flows We investigate how a rapidly growing private sector in Poland affects labor market dynamics and in particular unemployment The analyses of labor market flows indicate the existence of a moderate mobility however after disaggregating the flows it becomes clear that private sector employees exhibit greater labor market mobility than their public sector counterparts. Thus the newly emerging and growing private sector will make the Polish labor market more dynamic and fluid. Global Human Rights Law Collection ,1999 Lindleyana ,2000 The Postal Bulletin ,2000

Assessment and Management of Environmental Risks Igor Linkov, José Palma-Oliveira, 2012-12-06 Managing environmental contamination requires decision makers to weigh existing risks against the potential effects of implementing environmental policies considering both the benefits and disruptions that may result from different actions. The NATO Advanced Research Workshop in Lisbon was an important step in the development and application of cost efficient methods of risk assessment especially within the constraints of a budget. The goal of the workshop was to evaluate the potential for risk assessment to serve as a unified and unifying technique in addressing a wide range of environmental problems. Papers presented in this book discuss issues ranging from specific and local studies specific site ecosystem pollutant to global decision and management frameworks watersheds regions integration of multiple pollutants and stressors they develop a range of approaches starting from specific methods to widely applied public policies. Figure 1 The papers show that the use of risk assessment can provide the scientific basis for environmentally sound and cost efficient policies strategies and solutions to our environmental challenges. The organization of the Proceedings reflects sessions and discussions during the workshop. The papers in the introductory Chapter summarize the positions of Drs Glenn Suter EPA and Jim Wilson Resources for the Future regarding whether the use of often expensive risk assessments in developing countries can be justified given evolving regulatory institutions and limited resources. PCR testing is no longer mentioned only by virologists nor are the terms basic reproduction ratio and herd immunity limited to epidemiologists. This expansion of vocabulary that was previously only used in specialist settings already demonstrates global societal impact. We have learnt that it is insufficient simply to act on disease emergence and spread. More focus is needed on prevention and surveillance of the precursors of emerging infectious disease as well as early detection. To succeed in this it is a necessity to collaborate across sectors academics governments industry and the public in a transdisciplinary way. Daily Bulletin of Orders Affecting the Postal Service ,1998
