2021 WHO Classification of Pediatric Brain Tumors: A Final Wedding Between Morphology and Molecular Biology? Angela Mastronuzzi, Andrea Carai, Lucia Quaglietta, Elisabetta Schiavello, 2024-05-22 Tumors of the central nervous system CNS are a dramatic health problem due to their high morbidity and mortality in all ages In the pediatric population brain tumors constitute the second most common cancer diagnosed worldwide each year

accounting for approximately 25% of childhood cancers. Although there has been a moderate increase in survival rates for children with CNS tumors over the past decades, CNS tumors remain the second leading cause of cancer death in children less than 20 years of age. The fifth edition of the World Health Organization (WHO) Classification of Tumors of the Central Nervous System (WHO CNS5) was recently released. This builds on the 2016 WHO CNS tumor update, which for the first time incorporated molecular data with histology in classifying CNS tumors. The changes in the WHO CNS5 group tumors into more biologically and molecularly defined entities with better characterized natural histories, as well as introducing new tumor types and subtypes, especially in the pediatric population. Most importantly, these updated classifications will enable clinicians to have a better understanding of the prognosis and optimal therapy for patients with specific CNS tumors. Therefore, optimizing the treatment of childhood CNS tumors remains a tremendously challenging task, requiring a multidisciplinary approach involving many pediatric specialists, as well as the support of molecular biologists and pharmacologists.

Agricultural, Biosystems, and Biological Engineering Education Umezuruike Linus Opara, 2024-09-30. Agricultural engineering developed as an engineering discipline underpinned by physics, applies scientific principles, knowledge, and technological innovations in the agricultural and food industries. During the last century, there was exponential growth in engineering developments, which has improved human wellbeing and radically changed how humans interact with each other and our planet. Among these, Agricultural Mechanization is ranked among the top 10 in a list of 20 Top Engineering Achievements of the last century that have had the greatest impact on the quality of life. While many success stories abound, the problems of low appeal among students, identity crises, and limited job opportunities in many climes continue to trouble the discipline's future in many parts of the world. Yet, agriculture and agricultural engineering remain fundamental to assuring food and nutrition security for a growing global population. Agricultural, Biosystems, and Biological Engineering Education provides the first comprehensive global review and synthesis of different agricultural biosystems and biological engineering education approaches, including a detailed exposition of current practices from different regions. Key Features: Describes novel approaches to curriculum design and reform; Outlines current and emerging epistemology and pedagogies in ABBE education; Provides a framework to grow agricultural engineering in Africa and other developing regions; Highlights the role of ABBE education in the context of the SDGs. Presented in 3 parts and containing 42 chapters, this book covers the historical evolution of agricultural engineering education and discusses the emergence of biological and biosystems engineering education. It will appeal to engineers and other professionals, education planners and administrators, and policy makers in agriculture and other biological industries.
