U. S. CAMERA 1957, edited by Tom Maloney, 287 pages, U. S. Camera Publishing Corp., N. Y. Price $4.95

Most annuals are uneven, and this year's U. S. Camera Annual is no exception. Some parts of it are excellent. In particular one must mention a portfolio gleaned from a show called Creative Photography which was exhibited in Kentucky this year. The pictures are first-rate in subject matter and technique, and it is always pleasant to see the recent work of such photographers as Brett Weston, Ansel Adams, Harry Callahan, and Aaron Siskind.

This year's annual contains, in addition to the above section, several portfolios by individual photographers plus small essays by them. Sanford Roth's dynamic contribution makes good sense both pictorially and in words. So does Philippe Hademan's fine set of portraits. However, the large color section by Ray Atkeson seems rather dull. The only other color in the book is a section of very delightful and slick free-press from the pages of Harper's Bazaar. While there certainly should be a place for scenes, fashion and beauty shots in any annual, it does seem a mistake to ignore completely the really fine creative color work being done today.

There seems to be a plethora of modes in this year's annual as compared to other years, but they are very good, especially a study by Andre de Dienes of a rather damp young lady emerging from a swimming pool, lake, or bath. Other individual pictures which will remain in mind are: Philip Gogel's action-filled horse-race, a marvelous set of nature patterns by Hans Hummer, a penetrating portrait and a lovely pair of Irish hands by Dorothea Lange.

The printing this year seems better than last, at least our copy. The arrangement of the pictures and general layout was well-paced. One complaint: It takes a really well-developed, detective-story trained mind to find some of the captions in this and most recent U. S. Camera Annuals.

Verdict: This annual suffers from an indigenous disease. It tries to be all things to all readers. Whatever your level of taste, there'll be something here for you. But it won't be enough to satisfy you. —J.P.
