- The outside phase cannot find the outside network
 - Does changing the outside phase to external fix it or not
 - Does the router (S1) have any other interfaces? If the outside network still doesn't work, then find other interfaces on S1, connect them with the outside and the internet, check if you succeed
- There is something wrong with the outside network while using it
 - Please try to connect with the outside phase after turning it off and restarting the network
 - Check the changing status of the network by pinging from one side to the other side, or try to telnet to the other side. Then you may find out what the reason is, or connect with the router directly

- The wireless network always disconnects & make users often reconnect to the mobile device.
- The wireless network must share a few pieces of the pipe.
- There is an interaction between the mobile device and the wireless network, as the wireless network is shared with other devices.
- There is a lot more to the wireless network with your laptop in order to increase the continuous quality of the system, simply by having the wireless network and the mobile device in the same location.
