Coastal Cities and their Sustainable Future G.R. Rodriguez, C.A. Brebbia, 2015-09-15 This book contains papers presented at the International Conference on Coastal Cities and their Sustainable Future First held in 2015 the conference evolved from a series of conferences on coastal processes sustainable development and city sustainability that began in 1992 The growth of world population and the preference for living in coastal areas has resulted in their ever increasing development Coastal areas are the most common destination which brings in economic growth but implies additional urban development and increases the need for resources infrastructure and services The activities common to coastal cities require the development of well planned and managed urban environments not only for reasons of efficiency and economics but also to avoid inflicting environmental degradation and the resultant deterioration of quality of life and human health To resolve these problems it is necessary to consider coastal cities as dynamic complex systems which need energy water food and other resources in order to work and generate diverse activities with the aim of offering a socioeconomic climate and better quality of life As a consequence it is essential to integrate the management and sustainable development of coastal cities with science technology architecture socio economics and planning all collaborating to provide support to decision makers Because of the complex nature of such integrated planning the support of computational models is essential in order for planners to explore various options and to forecast future services and plans These models seek to simulate the dynamic of coastal cities leading to potential solutions The multidisciplinary papers in the book examine some of the possible models and potential solutions Contents include topics such as Landscape and urban planning and design The coastal city and its environs Infrastructures and eco architecture City heritage and regeneration Urban transport and communications Commercial ports fishing and sports harbours Energy systems Water resources management City Waterfront interaction Coastal city beaches Quality of life and city leisure Tourism and the city Coastal processes Water pollution Air pollution City waste management Acoustical and thermal pollution Coastal risk assessment Coastal flooding Landslides Emergency plans and evacuation systems Health services management Intercity issues Socio economic issues Legal aspects Modelling and simulation of coastal city systems

Integrated Planning and Management of Natural Resources Dwight Watson, 2008 Integrated coastal zone management is a process of good governance that guides decision making on the equitable allocation and sustainable use of natural resources Integrated Planning and Management of Natural Resources describes systematic planning procedures for writing a hierarchy of strategic zoning management and action plans These plans can be adapted to any coastal management area in order to realize the social economic and environmental benefits that can be derived from spatially allocating developing and regulating the use of its diverse natural resources Global Challenges in Integrated Coastal Zone Management Einar Dahl, Josianne Støttrup, 2012-12-18 Growing pressure from increasingly diverse human activities coupled with climate change impacts threaten the functional integrity of coastal ecosystems around the globe A multi disciplinary approach towards understanding drivers pressures and impacts in the coastal zone requires effective integration of data and information in policy and management combining expertise from nature and social science to reach a balanced and sustainable development of the coastal zone This important book comprises the proceedings of The International Symposium on Integrated Coastal Zone Management which took place in Arendal Norway between 3-7 July 2011 The main objective of the Symposium was to present current knowledge and to address issues on advice and management related to the coastal zone The major themes of papers included in this book are Coastal habitats and ecosystem services Adaptation mitigation to change in coastal systems Coastal governance Linking science and management Comprising a huge wealth of information this timely and well edited volume is essential reading for all those involved in coastal zone management around the globe All libraries in research establishments and universities where marine aquatic and environmental sciences and fisheries and aquatic sciences are studied and taught will need copies of this important volume on their shelves Coastal Zone Management Imperative for Maritime Developing Nations B.U. Haq, 1997-11-30 Anthropogenic transformation of the coastal zone continues at a steady pace especially in the developing maritime countries where coastal resources are often crucial to national economies However exploitation of these resources is often indiscriminate ill planned or carried out without adequate scientific knowledge This leads to rapid resource depletion and often irreversible environmental degradation The 1992 Rio de Janeiro UN Conference on Environment and Development recognized the expediency of an integrated and sustainable use of all coastal resources functions and services grounded on sound scientific data The present volume is based on the 1994 international workshop Integrated Coastal Zone Management and brings together contributions by leading specialists both on basic concepts and on applications of coastal management The work is divided into six parts dealing with the conceptual framework of ICZM regional and global aspects of coastal management environmental assessment in ICZM capacity building and technology transfer monitoring and environmental analysis and case studies and status of ICZM plans The book also incorporates an interactive ICZM planning module COSMO which can be of use in designing a management plan for a coast Attention is also given to long term environmental effects of present day actions It is hoped that COSMO will prove an additional learning tool for ICZM practitioners and enhance the value of the book This work is intended to give a broad coverage of conceptual and technical aspects of ICZM and will be of use to operational executives as well as students of ICZM environmental economists policy makers and senior managers in the international development agencies and governmental and non governmental organizations It can be recommended as a textbook and as a reference work      Towards Coastal Resilience and Sustainability C. Patrick Heidkamp, John Morrissey, 2018-09-28

Coastal zones represent a frontline in the battle for sustainability as coastal communities face unprecedented economic challenges Coastal ecosystems are subject to overuse loss of resilience and increased vulnerability This book aims to interrogate the multi scalar complexities in creating a more sustainable coastal zone Sustainability transitions are geographical processes which happen in situated particular places However much contemporary discussion of transition is either aspatial or based on implicit assumptions about spatial homogeneity This book addresses these limitations through an examination of socio technological transitions with an explicitly spatial focus in the context of the coastal zone The book begins by focusing on theoretical understandings of transition processes specific to the coastal zone and includes detailed empirical case studies The second half of the book appraises governance initiatives in coastal zones and their efficacy The authors conclude with an implicit theme of social and environmental justice in coastal sustainability transitions Research will be of interest to practitioners academics and decision makers active in the sphere of coastal sustainability The multi disciplinary nature encourages accessibility for individuals working in the fields of Economic Geography Regional Development Public Policy and Planning Environmental Studies Social Geography and Sociology      Coastal Management R.
