Predicting the Dynamics of Research Impact Yannis Manolopoulos, Thanasis Vergoulis, 2021-09-22 This book provides its readers with an introduction to interesting prediction and science dynamics problems in the field of Science of Science Prediction focuses on the forecasting of future performance or impact of an entity either a research article or a scientist and also the prediction of future links in collaboration networks or identifying missing links in citation networks The single chapters are written in a way that help the reader gain a detailed technical understanding of the corresponding subjects the strength and weaknesses of the state of the art approaches for each described problem and the currently open challenges While chapter 1 provides a useful contribution in the theoretical foundations of the fields of scientometrics and science of science chapters 2 4 turn the focal point to the study of factors that affect research impact and its dynamics Chapters 5 7 then focus on article level measures that quantify the current and future impact of scientific articles Next chapters 8 10 investigate subjects relevant to predicting the future impact of individual researchers Finally chapters 11 13 focus on science evolution and dynamics leveraging heterogeneous and interconnected data where the analysis of research topic trends and their evolution has always played a key role in impact prediction approaches and quantitative analyses in the field of bibliometrics Each chapter can be read independently since it includes a detailed description of the problem being investigated along with a thorough discussion and study of the respective state of the art Due to the cross disciplinary character of the Science of Science field the book may be useful to interested readers from a variety of disciplines like information science information retrieval network science informetrics scientometrics and machine learning to name a few The profiles of the readers may also be diverse ranging from researchers and professors in the respective fields to students and developers being curious about the covered subjects

Cumulated Index Medicus, 1999 Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators Wolfgang Glänzel, Henk F. Moed, Ulrich Schmoch, Mike Thelwall, 2019-10-30 This handbook presents the state of the art of quantitative methods and models to understand and assess the science and technology system Focusing on various aspects of the development and application of indicators derived from data on scholarly publications patents and electronic communications the individual chapters written by leading experts discuss theoretical and methodological issues illustrate applications highlight their policy context and relevance and point to future research directions A substantial portion of the book is dedicated to detailed descriptions and analyses of data sources presenting both traditional and advanced approaches It addresses the main bibliographic metrics and indexes such as the journal impact factor and the h index as well as altmetric and webometric indicators and science mapping techniques on different levels of aggregation and in the context of their value for the assessment of research performance as well as their impact on research policy and society It also presents and critically discusses various national research evaluation systems Complementing the sections reflecting on the science system the technology section includes multiple chapters that explain different aspects of patent statistics patent classification and database search methods to retrieve patent related information In addition it examines the relevance of trademarks and standards as additional technological indicators The Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators is an invaluable resource for practitioners scientists and policy makers wanting a systematic and thorough analysis of the potential and limitations of the various approaches to assess research and research performance

Science Dynamics and Research Production Nikolay K. Vitanov, 2016-08-01 This book deals with methods to evaluate scientific productivity In the book statistical methods deterministic and stochastic models and numerous indexes are discussed that will help the reader to understand the nonlinear science dynamics and to be able to develop or construct systems for appropriate evaluation of research productivity and management of research groups and organizations The dynamics of science structures and systems is complex and the evaluation of research productivity requires a combination of qualitative and quantitative methods and measures The book has three parts The first part is devoted to mathematical models describing the importance of science for economic growth and systems for the evaluation of research organizations of different size The second part contains descriptions and discussions of numerous indexes for the evaluation of the productivity of researchers and groups of researchers of different size up to the comparison of research productivities of research communities of nations Part three contains discussions of non Gaussian laws connected to scientific productivity and presents various deterministic and stochastic models of science dynamics and research productivity The book shows that many famous fat tail distributions as well as many deterministic and stochastic models and processes which are well known from physics theory of extreme events or population dynamics occur also in the description of dynamics of scientific systems and in the description of the characteristics of research productivity This is not a surprise as scientific systems are nonlinear open and dissipative
