Upspeeding technological evolution and globalisation characterise today's and future lives of engineers. It is vital for all institutions involved in engineering education to keep pace and to anticipate future needs. The herein presented collection of papers results from the Workshop on Global Engineering Education GEE 3 which took place at Aachen University of Technology 18-20 October 2000. In this meeting more than 150 specialists from 25 countries discussed the topic 'Educating the Engineer for the 21st Century'. Which role to attribute to non-technical qualifications? How to integrate ethical aspects in education? Do we have to define international standards in education? What about quality control? What is the potential of new media for knowledge transfer? How to organise lifelong learning for engineers? These are some of the questions discussed among representatives of industries, educational institutions, politicians and individuals during this meeting. According to the sessions of the workshop, the book is subdivided into chapters covering the areas: Role of the Global Engineer in Meeting the Challenges of Society in the 21st Century; Internationality and Interdisciplinarity; Engineering Education in Emerging Economies; European Bachelor and Master Programmes; Developing Personal Skills to be a Global Engineer. Three chapters deal with successful practice in engineering education covering the topics: Programmes; Curricula; and Evaluation. Educational Concepts and University Industry Partnership Design Projects.

The Electrical Engineer, 1911      Engineering, 1903      Technology N.S. Siddharthan, K. Narayanan, 2016-09-01

This volume deals with the role and impact of technology on the economy and society. The papers on corporate dimensions address the impact of patents, determinants of innovative activities, differential behaviour of multinationals, industrial groups and other firms with regard to innovations and technology. In contrast, the papers on social dimensions chiefly deal with the role of technology in reducing inequality. The majority of the papers employ econometric techniques and other statistical methods and many are based on primary data. The studies emphasise the importance of innovations, especially patents and human capital, in influencing productivity across Indian states, the significance of patenting in determining the efficiency of firms, the role of business groups in promoting innovations, differences in the technological characteristics of multinational and domestic firms and how mergers and acquisitions can promote R D The papers on social dimensions analyse how innovative activities can shape employment the impact of technology on poverty the socioeconomic characteristics of mobile phone ownerships use of information and communications technologies at educational institutions and the influence of Synchronous Technologies in reducing access to teaching programmes div The studies show that those Indian states that have invested in human capital and technology experienced higher labour productivity Further the studies establish a positive correlation between R D spending and employment Lastly they demonstrate that the adoption of agriculture related technologies can have a significant impact on rural poverty and consumption expenditures      The Engineer ,1887      The South African Mechanical Engineer ,1963      The Electrical Journal ,1911      Journal of the Society of Chemical Industry Society of Chemical Industry (Great Britain),1902 Includes list of members 1882 1902 proceedings of the annual meetings and various supplements      The Legislative Assembly Debates India.
