Management Accounting vs Financial Accounting:

Management Accounting measures, analyses, and report financial and non-financial information that helps managers make decisions to fulfill organisation goals.

Financial Accounting focuses on reporting financial info to external parties such as investors, governmental agencies, banks, and suppliers based on GAAP.

=> Managers use management accounting to control organisational activities:
-Develop, communicate, and implement strategies.
-Coordinate product design, production, and marketing decisions and evaluate a company's performance.

	Management Accounting	Financial Accounting
Purpose of information	Help managers make decisions to fulfill an organization's goals	Communicate an organization's financial position to investors, banks, regulators, and other outside parties
Primary users	Managers of the organization	External users such as investors, banks, regulators, and suppliers
Focus and emphasis	Future-oriented (budget for 2017 prepared in 2016)	Past-oriented (reports on 2016 performance prepared in 2017)
Rules of measurement and reporting	Internal measures and reports do not have to follow GAAP but are based on cost-benefit analyses	Financial statements must be prepared in accordance with GAAP and be certified by external, independent auditors
Time span and type of reports	Varies from hourly information to 15 to 20 years, with financial and nonfinancial reports on products, departments, territories, and strategies	Annual and quarterly financial reports, primarily on the company as a whole
Behavioral implications	Designed to influence the behavior of managers and other employees	Primarily reports economic events but also influences behavior because manager's compensation is often based on reported financial results
