Narcissistic Abuse Meredith Jackson, 2019-11-05

Have you ever felt alone even while standing in the room with your partner right next to you? Perhaps you feel rejected on a regular basis, upset that every time you do something it is not good enough and your partner always has a word to say in criticism. You feel as though you are not able to meet your partner's standards no matter how hard you try. The harder you try, the more anxious you feel and the further you see your partner slipping away from you, growing colder and more distant with every passing day, leaving you alone to wallow in your own self-pity with your shattered self-esteem. If this sounds like a typical interaction between yourself and your partner, it is possible that your partner is a narcissist. Narcissists are individuals who lack the ability to feel empathy, constantly see themselves as far more important than the average person, and desire constant attention and catering. They want to be treated as the best gifts on this earth to everyone around them and they truly believe that they are superior to all they see themselves in a position of power over those around them. They exert that power in order to extort others, manipulating them into showering the narcissists with exactly what they want most. Narcissists supply. They crave narcissistic supply the way you crave food and they will do anything to satisfy their need to feed off of other's attention. If this sounds familiar to you, then Narcissistic Partner Abuse is here for you. Reading this book will provide you with all the tools you will need to navigate through a narcissistic relationship. If you fear that you may have a narcissist somewhere within your life, it is time to take the steps forward to learn about narcissistic abuse and recognize whether you are being abused without even knowing it.
