Jonassen,2006 Well known for addressing the use of computers to foster critical thinking and problem solving this text was written to teach current and future teachers how to better engage learners more mindfully and meaningfully in the process of learning Available now in it s Third Edition it focuses on how to use technology to support meaningful learning through model building providing powerful strategies for engaging supporting and assessing coconceptual change in learners      Narratives of Islamic Origins Fred McGraw Donner,1998 Donner Near Eastern history Oriental Institute and U of Chicago challenges the scholarly assumption that the earliest Muslim believers wanted to write history out of idle curiosity and suggests that Islamic historical tradition resulted from a variety of challenges facing the community during the seventh to tenth centuries C E He identifies the intellectual context in which Muslims began to think and write historically sketches the issues themes and forms of the early Islamic historiographical tradition considers the value of some radically revisionist interpretations of early Islam that have appeared in the past 20 years and discusses the problem of sources in studying Islamic origins Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Transforming Corrections David Polizzi,Michael Braswell,2009 This book is part of the Criminal Justice and Psychology Series Transforming Corrections offers an alternative perspective not easily found in the existing literature concerning the way in which individuals in the criminal justice system are understood and treated by those responsible for their care Intended as a supplementary text this collection will help to enhance the current conversation that is ongoing in the field of rehabilitative corrections The wide reaching focus of this collection is intended to provide a variety of alternative perspectives related to issues of theory correctional practice and offender treatment As such Transforming Corrections could be adopted in introductory courses in criminology and criminal justice as well as graduate courses more specifically focused on issues related to offender treatment and correctional administration A book subtitled Humanistic Approaches to Corrections and Offender Treatment manifestly does not mirror prevailing practices in corrections nor reflect the dominant ethos of the times Such a book instead gives some of us heady sustenance and support in the goals that we secretly aspire to it gives us a sense of what might be achieved in the distant future and what might already have been accomplished The book is an invitation for us to hang in there and persevere If you are not quite burned out have not given up and are still fighting the odds the message of these chapters is you are not nearly as alone as you sometimes feel out there on your limb The reassuring fact is that there are enclaves of humanistic activity in correctional settings and as these experiments demonstrate their effectiveness they are bound to ensure the long term survival of the approach Hans Toch University at Albany SUNY from the Preface It is regrettable that a collection such as this is necessary in order to encourage those who wish to treat prisoners as human beings For this reason alone the book deserves a place in every library Summing Up Recommended Upper division undergraduates and above CHOICE Magazine A Guide to Humanistic Studies in Aging Thomas R.
