Megachange The World In 2050:

Megachange Daniel Franklin,D. Franklin,John Andrews,2012-03-27 Megatrends are great forces in societal development that have profound impacts on states markets and civil society in the now and for the years to come They can effectively be employed as a starting point for analyzing our world Megachange The World in 2050 looks at these sweeping fundamental trends that are changing the world faster than at any time in human history Including chapters on approximately twenty of these megatrends each elegantly outlined by contributors from The Economist and rich in supporting facts and graphics the book is a compelling read as well as a valuable research and reference tool Groups the megatrends that are shaping our world into several categories People Life and Death Economy and Business and Knowledge Each trend is covered in a concise but detailed chapter written by an expert from The Economist Edited by Daniel Franklin Executive Editor of The Economist Packed with important information about the forces that shape our world Megachange is a fascinating new look to the future from the experts at The Economist Publisher s website The Economist: Megachange The Economist,2012-03-22 In 2050 there will be 9.3 billion people alive compared with 7 billion today and the number will still be rising The population aged over sixty five will have more than doubled to more than 16 per cent China s GDP will be 80 per cent more than America s and the number of cars on India s roads will have increased by 3.880 per cent And in 2050 it should be clear whether we are alone in the universe What other megachanges can we expect and what will their impact be This comprehensive and compelling book will cover the most significant trends that are shaping the coming decades with each of its twenty chapters elegantly and authoritatively outlined by Economist contributors and rich in supporting facts and figures It will chart the rise and fall of fertility rates across continents how energy resources will change in light of new technology and how different nations will deal with major developments in science and warfare Megachange is essential reading for anyone who wants to know what the next four decades hold in store Megachange Daniel Franklin,John Andrews,2012 This anthology s essays forecast future developments in areas from social media to religion Daniel Franklin executive editor and business affairs editor of The Economist and John Andrews a writer for the magazine for 30 years compiled and edited this volume Since all 20 writers contribute to The Economist they share a lucid style and a generally aligned conceptual framework No one can promise accurate predictions but these reporters share deeply informed insights about forces that will affect the world by 2050 The result is a useful intriguing mosaic of the near future The writers clearly explain complex concepts as their shared references let one essay build synergistically on the next Readers who already know the contents of one essay will turn the page to remark on how startling the next one is getAbstract recommends this collection to futurists long term planners and readers interested in social analysis and forecasting Digital Age: Chances, Challenges and Future Svetlana Igorevna Ashmarina,Marek Vochozka,Valentina Vyacheslavovna Mantulenko,2019-07-27 This proceedings book presents the outcomes of the VII International Scientific Conference Digital Transformation of the Economy Challenges Trends New Opportunities which took place in Samara Russian Federation on April 26 27 2019 Organized by the Samara State University of Economics the conference chiefly focused on digital economy issues such as theoretical preconditions for the development of economic systems in the digital age and specific practical issues related to real world business practice Consisting of six chapters corresponding to the thematic areas of the conference and written by scientists and practitioners from different regions of Russia Kazakhstan the Czech Republic and Germany the book offers answers to the most pressing questions for today's business community How is our world changing under the influence of digital technology Is sustainable economic development a myth or reality in the context of digitalization What threats and opportunities does digitalization bring What are realities and prospects of digitalization in the context of business practice How do we create a digital infrastructure for the economy How should the legal environment of the economy be transformed in the context of digitalization The conclusions and recommendations presented are not recipes for solving the existing economic problems but instead are intended for use in further research on transformation processes in the economy and in the development of state economic policies in various countries and regions

Towards a Better Global Economy Franklin Allen, Jere Richard Behrman, Nancy Birdsall, Shahrokh Fardoust, Dani Rodrik, Andrew D. Steer, Arvind Subramanian, 2014 Substantial progress in the fight against extreme poverty was made in the last two decades But the slowdown in global economic growth and significant increases in income inequality in many developed and developing countries raise serious concerns about the continuation of this trend into the 21st century The time has come to seriously think about how improvements in official global governance coupled with and reinforced by rising activism of global citizens can lead to welfare enhancing and more equitable results for global citizens through better national and international policies This book examines the factors that are most likely to facilitate the process of beneficial economic growth in low middle and high income countries It examines past present and future economic growth demographic changes the hyperglobalization of trade the effect of finance on growth climate change and resource depletion and the sense of global citizenship and the need for global governance in order to draw longer term implications identify policy options for improving the lives of average citizens around the world and make the case for the need to confront new challenges with truly global policy responses The book documents how demographic changes convergence and competition are likely to bring about massive shifts in the sectoral and geographical composition of global output and employment as the center of gravity of the global economy moves toward Asia and emerging economies elsewhere It shows that the legacies of the 2008 09 crisis high unemployment levels massive excess capacities and high debt levels are likely to reduce the standard of living of millions of people in many countries over a long period of adjustment and that fluctuations in international trade financial markets and commodity prices as well as the tendency of institutions at both the national and international level to favor the interests of the better off and more powerful pose substantial risks for citizens of all countries The chapters and their policy implications are intended to stimulate public interest and facilitate the exchange of ideas and policy dialogue The Psychology of the Asian Consumer Bernd Schmitt, Leonard Lee, 2015-07-03

Why is it important to conduct research on the psychology of the Asian consumer What research themes have already emerged What are the relevant theories and practical applications based on this research These are some of the questions and issues addressed in this unique book With chapters written by experts in their field The Psychology of the Asian Consumer highlights how consumer psychology can contribute to an understanding of Asian consumer behaviour and is especially timely in light of today's global economy and its focus on the Pacific Rim Chapters are organised around the key concepts of theory and culture and include numerous case studies and practical applications The book focuses on research summaries that provide readers with important need to know information Journal of Development Policy Review (JDPR) Balwant Singh Mehta, Soumyadip Chattopadhyay, Simi Mehta, Utpal Kumar De, Bibhas Saha, Arjun Kumar, M. Urbanization is occurring at an unprecedented rate by 2050 three quarters of the world's people will live in urban environments The cars we drive products we consume houses we live in and technology we use will all determine how sustainable our cities will be Bridging the increasing divide between cross disciplinary academic insights and the latest practical innovations Resilient Sustainable Cities provides an integrated approach for long term future planning within the context of the city as a whole system In the next 30 years cities will face their biggest challenges yet as a result of long term or slow burn issues population growth will stretch to the breaking point urban infrastructure and service capacity resource scarcity such as peak oil potable water and food security will dramatically change what we consume and how environmental pressures will change how we live and where and shifting demographic preferences will exacerbate urban pressures Cities can't keep doing what they've always done and cope we need to change current urban development to achieve resilient sustainable cities Resilient Sustainable Cities provides practical and conceptual insights for practitioners researchers and students on how to deliver cities which are resilient to slow burn issues and achieve sustainability The book is organized around three overarching themes pathways to the future innovation to deliver the future leadership and governance issues The book includes a variety of perspectives conveyed through international case studies and examples of cities that have transformed for a sustainable future exploring their successes and failures to ensure that readers are left with ideas on how to turn their city into a resilient sustainable city for the future The Post-Crisis Crises Paul Dobrescu,2018-10-29 This volume shows that in the post crisis period global turmoil has moved to the regional level The clash between spheres of influence and the world order is being reproduced over and over again On almost each meridian in almost every important region of the world one can see an ever harder to contain discontent mainly associated with the succeeding conflicts with ever more frequent and serious tensions The world seems to be vibrating and geopolitical indiscipline is the typical feature of the new world order It is as if no one were pleased with the current situation and everyone wanted to start a new game of geopolitical chess The Economist ,1843 The Last Driver's License Holder Has Already Been Born: How Rapid

Advances in Automotive Technology will Disrupt Life As We Know It and Why This is a Good Thing Mario Herger,2019-07-26 How the radical disruption of the auto industry affects you and how you can prepare for the soon to be new normal The combined effect of autonomous driving electric vehicles and the sharing economy is on the verge of changing the auto industry all within the next decade And this tech economics revolution will touch virtually every industry What exactly will change Jobs Demand for commercial vehicle drivers car dealers mechanics doctors and many other professions will shrink Laws Manually driving cars will be forbidden and car ownership will be almost nonexistent Housing Prices will drop and cities and towns will be planned differently Healthcare Infrastructure will shrink as traffic accidents dramatically decline Global trade China will become the world's biggest automotive exporter The Last Driver's License Holder Has Already Been Born provides the information and insight you need to position your company for these groundbreaking changes It reveals the disruptive technologies now taking shape and provides a timeline of when they will take hold It examines the impact on the industry itself as well as adjacent sectors including jobs and professions city and street design hospitals insurances politics security hospitality industry the oil industry real estate and society at large And it provides the knowledge and insight you need to keep yourself and your organization ahead of the curve and in front of the competition 世界貿易組織秘書長,2014-01-20 2013 1069 1978 TVBS World Trade Report 2013 World Trade

Organization,2013 The world is changing with extraordinary rapidity driven by many influences including shifts in production and consumption patterns continuing technological innovation new ways of doing business and of course policy The World Trade Report 2013 focuses on how trade is both a cause and an effect of change and looks into the factors shaping the future of world trade One of the most significant drivers of change is technology Not only have revolutions in transport and communications transformed our world but new developments such as 3D printing and the continuing spread of information technology will continue to do so Trade and foreign direct investment together with a greater geographical spread of income growth and opportunity will integrate a growing number of countries into more extensive international exchange Higher incomes and larger populations will put new strains on both renewable and non renewable resources calling for careful resource management Environmental issues will also call for increasing attention Economic and political institutions along with the interplay of cultural customs among countries all help to shape international cooperation including in the trade field The future of trade will also be affected by the extent to which politics and policies successfully address issues of growing social concern such as the availability of jobs and persistent income inequality These and other factors are all examined in the World Trade Report 2013
