The Wiley Handbook of Learning Technology Nick Rushby, Dan Surry, 2016-02-23 The Wiley Handbook of Learning Technology is an authoritative and up to date survey of the fast growing field of learning technology from its foundational theories and practices to its challenges trends and future developments Offers an examination of learning technology that is equal parts theoretical and practical covering both the technology of learning and the use of technology in learning Individual chapters tackle timely and controversial subjects such as gaming and simulation security lifelong learning distance education learning across educational settings and the research agenda Designed to serve as a point of entry for learning technology novices a comprehensive reference for scholars and researchers and a practical guide for education and training practitioners Includes 29 original and comprehensively referenced essays written by leading experts in instructional and educational technology from around the world Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching Christopher Klopfer, Steve Drew, 2015-10-30 Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching focuses on the emerging global governmental and institutional agenda about higher education teaching quality and the role that peer review can play in supporting improvements in teaching and student outcomes This agenda is a pervasive element of the further development of higher education internationally through activities of governments global agencies institutions of higher education discrete disciplines and individual teachers Many universities have adopted student evaluations as a mechanism to appraise the quality of teaching These evaluations can be understood as providing a customer centric portrait of quality and when used as the sole arbiter of teaching performance they do not instil confidence in the system of evaluation by academic teaching staff Providing peer perspectives as counterpoint whether in a developmental or summative form goes some way to alleviating this imbalance and is the impetus for the resurgence of interest in peer review and observation of teaching This book seeks to recognise cases of peer review of teaching in Higher Education to affirm best practices and identify areas that require improvement in establishing local national and international benchmarks of teaching quality Interest in Mathematics and Science Learning Ann Renninger, Martina Nieswandt, Suzanne Hidi, 2015-04-19 Interest in Mathematics and Science Learning edited by K Ann Renninger Martin Nieswandt and Suzanne Hidi is the first volume to assemble findings on the role of interest in mathematics and science learning As the contributors illuminate across the volume s 22 chapters interest provides a critical bridge between cognition and affect in learning and development This volume will be useful to educators researchers and policy makers especially those whose focus is mathematics science and technology education

Sustaining Human Progress Khalid Malik, 2014 Most people in most countries have been steadily better in human development Advances in technology and incomes hold ever greater for longer healthier more secure lives Policy-Making in the GCC Neil Quilliam, Mark C. Thompson, 2017-09-11 The GCC is a major player in the post 2011 reordering of the Middle East Despite the rise in prominence of individual Gulf states especially Kuwait Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and the growth of the GCC as a collective entity surprisingly little attention has been paid to the actual mechanics of policy making in the region This book analyses the vital role that institutions are coming to play in shaping policy in the Gulf Arab states The research coincides with two key developments that have given institutions new importance in the policy process the emergence of a new generation of leaders in the Gulf and the era of low oil prices Both developments along with dramatic demographic change have compelled state and citizens to re evaluate the nature of the social contract that binds them together Contributors assess the changing relationship between state and citizen and evaluate the role that formal and informal institutions play in mediating such change and informing policy The book shows how academic social and economic institutions are responding to the increasingly complex process of decision making where citizens demand better services and further empowerment and states are obliged to seek wider counsel although wanting to retain ultimate authority With contributions from both academics and practitioners this book will be highly relevant for researchers and policymakers alike

Alternative Models of Addiction Hanna Pickard, Serge H. Ahmed, Bennett Foddy, 2015-12-07 For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly The second model in contrast viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved the second model became scientific orthodoxy increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction More recently however a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control On this alternative model of addiction addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends that are desired by the individual although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation the explanation of the difference between addictive and non addictive behaviour and motivation and lastly the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience psychology philosophy law and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction     Farmers' Review ,1886     The American Contractor ,1917     The United States Army and Navy Journal and Gazette of the Regular and Volunteer Forces ,1893     Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International Associations,2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events     National Stockman and Farmer ,1906     Scientific American ,1885 Monthly magazine devoted to topics of general scientific interest     The Value Line Convertibles Survey ,2009     Who's Who in Science and Engineering 2008-2009 Who's Who Marquis,Marquis Who's Who,2007-12     Library Media Connection ,1990
