Emergence and Modularity in Life Sciences Lars H. Wegner, Ulrich Lüttge, 2019-02-12 This book focuses on modules and emergence with self organization in the life sciences As Aristotle observed so long ago the whole is more than the sum of its parts However contemporary science is dominated by reductionist concepts and tends to neglect the non reproducible features of complex systems which emerge from the interaction of the smaller units they are composed of The book is divided into three major parts the essays in part A highlight the conceptual basis of emergence linking it to the philosophy of science systems biology and sustainability This is subsequently exemplified in part B by applying the concept of emergence to various biological disciplines such as genetics developmental biology neurobiology plant physiology and ecology New aspects of emergence come into play when biology meets the technical sciences as revealed in a chapter on bionics In turn part C adopts a broader view revealing how the organization of life follows a hierarchical order in terms of scalar dimensions ranging from the molecular level to the entire biosphere The idea that life is primarily and exclusively shaped by processes at the molecular level and in particular by the information encoded in the genome is refuted rather there is no hierarchy with respect to the level of causation in the cross talk between the levels In the last two chapters the evolutionary trend toward ever increasing complexity in living systems is interpreted in terms of the Gaia hypothesis sensu Lovelock the entire biosphere is viewed as a functional unit or holobiont like system organized to develop and sustain life on Earth High Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological, and religious factors that are related to people's views about evolution; b) designing/implementing/evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding; and c) reducing antievolutionary attitudes. This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region. The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross-cultural meta-analysis. Written for a primarily academic audience, this book provides a much-needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe.
