Md. Nazrul Islam, Steven M. Bartell

Life Science Memo P2013 Ec:

EU Global Strategy and Human Security Mary Kaldor, Iavor Rangelov, Sabine Selchow, 2018-04-17 This volume examines the EU's Global Strategy in relation to human security approaches to conflict. Contemporary conflicts are best understood as a social condition in which armed groups mobilise sectarian and fundamentalist sentiments and construct a predatory economy through which they enrich themselves at the expense of ordinary citizens. This volume provides a timely contribution to debates over the role of the EU on the global stage and its contribution to peace and security at a time when these discussions are reinvigorated by the adoption of the EU Global Strategy. It discusses the significance of the Strategic Review and the Global Strategy for the re-articulation of EU conflict prevention, crisis management, peacebuilding and development policies in the next few years. It also addresses the key issues facing EU security in the 21st century, including the conflicts in Ukraine, Libya and Syria, border security, cyber security and the role of the private security sector. The book concludes by proposing that the EU adopts a second generation human security approach to conflicts as an alternative to geopolitics or the War on Terror, taking forward the principles of human security and adapting them to 21st century realities. This book will be of interest to students of human security, European foreign and security policy, peace and conflict studies, global governance and IR in general.

Nanomaterials for Agriculture and Forestry Applications Azamal Husen, Mohammad Jawaid, 2020-03-06 Nanomaterials for Agriculture and Forestry Applications explores how major nanomaterials are being specially used in the agriculture, forestry and other associated sectors. Plants and their products are used for synthesis of nanoparticles as they contain primary and secondary metabolites which reduce the metal salts and metal oxides into their nanoparticles. Exposure of these particles has been examined for their sustainable role and/or interaction with agricultural crops in terms of growth and yields. Nanomaterials accumulation and translocation have shown interaction with cellular organelles, DNA, RNA, proteins or other biomolecules and affect various functions of cell organelles. Application of nanosensors holds a significant promise in monitoring signaling pathways, metabolism, detection of crop soil diseases and specific pollutants or pesticides. Nanomaterials have also been used in soil and water quality management. In the forestry sector, the nanotechnology is considered as the potential platform which can transform the forest materials into value added products such as smart paper, nano packaging.

coating material building construction and biomedical and other sectors This book is an important resource showing how nanotechnology is being used to enhance large scale agricultural and or industrial application and production Discusses the major types of nanomaterials used in the agriculture and forestry sectors exploring how their properties make them effective for specific applications Explores the design fabrication characterization and applications of nanomaterials for new agri products Offers an overview of regulatory aspects regarding the use of nanomaterials for agriculture and forestry

Imperative of Economic Growth in the Eurozone: Competitiveness, Capital Flows and Structural Reforms Lubor Lacina, Antonin Rusek, 2018-01-15 European economic recovery appears to be taking hold So is the European crisis over The acute phase of the crisis passed however a number of medium and long term issues remain The policies of internal devaluations are working albeit slowly to restore competitiveness in the countries most affected by the crisis However growth remains at best sluggish The medium and long term outlook remains highly uncertain fomenting social tensions and endangering political stability The restoration of economic dynamism is increasingly perceived as the answer to the question of the European future economically politically and socially There is a broad consensus that dynamic structural reforms and the restoration of competitiveness at the level of the global economy are key answers to current European challenges However whatever the form these may take the transfer of resources is implicit and seemingly necessary to underpin the current structure of eurozone This indeed raises the question of governance both fiscal and monetary After all the provision of resources implies an allocation and it is hard to imagine that resources will be provided to the common pool unless the providers have some say with respect to allocation And that requires some form of common i e centralized decision making procedures in all likelihood exceeding the common understanding of the acquis communautaire as it exists today i e some form of the effective political arrangement In this context the basic idea which connects all contributions in this volume is the analysis of the problems which affected the Eurozone in the past decade and the challenges and dilemmas the Eurozone will face in the coming years
