Informed is best Amy Brown, 2019 From the moment you share the news that you are pregnant or have a new baby it feels like everyone becomes an expert Did you see that headline Did you hear that story on TV Have you heard the latest about what they say is best In a world overflowing with information telling you what is best for you and your baby making decisions can feel overwhelming Who do you trust Who is telling the truth And how do you know if what they are saying is right for you How By becoming your own expert in sorting the media spin and politics from the actual facts and data This isn't a book that is going to tell you which decisions to make or that there is ever one right answer It is not going to tell you that the same thing is always best for everyone Instead this is a guide to help you evaluate information and evidence to decide what is right for you your body and your baby In three main parts it will firstly open your eyes to how information is shared in the media and how this can affect our thinking and decision making Next it will help you spot who is funding leading and promoting research and how this can affect the content of what is shared Finally it will talk you through reading understanding and evaluating evidence for yourself across topics in pregnancy birth and caring for babies You ll learn how to spot weaknesses in methods used how to determine the real risk for you and your baby and how wider context and other factors can influence what research means for you Information is power Making your own decisions that are right for you is empowering Informed is best

Teaching for

Learning and Learning for Teaching Christopher Kloppe,Steve Drew,2015-10-30 Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching focuses on the emerging global governmental and institutional agenda about higher education teaching quality and the role that peer review can play in supporting improvements in teaching and student outcomes This agenda is a pervasive element of the further development of higher education internationally through activities of governments global agencies institutions of higher education discrete disciplines and individual teachers Many universities have adopted student evaluations as a mechanism to appraise the quality of teaching These evaluations can be understood as providing a customer centric portrait of quality and when used as the sole arbiter of teaching performance they do not instil confidence in the system of evaluation by academic teaching staff Providing peer perspectives as counterpoint whether in a developmental or summative form goes some way to alleviating this imbalance and is the impetus for the resurgence of interest in peer review and observation of teaching This book seeks to recognise cases of peer review of teaching in Higher Education to affirm best practices and identify areas that require improvement in establishing local national and international benchmarks of teaching quality

Policy-Making in the GCC Neil Quilliam,Mark C. Thompson,2017-09-11 The GCC is a major player in the post 2011 reordering of the Middle East Despite the rise in prominence of individual Gulf states especially Kuwait Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and the growth of the GCC as a collective entity surprisingly little attention has been paid to the actual mechanics of policy making in the region This book analyses the vital role that institutions are coming to play in shaping policy in the Gulf Arab states The research coincides with two key developments that have given institutions new importance in the policy process the emergence of a new generation of leaders in the Gulf and the era of low oil prices Both developments along with dramatic demographic change have compelled state and citizens to re evaluate the nature of the social contract that binds them together Contributors assess the changing relationship between state and citizen and evaluate the role that formal and informal institutions play in mediating such change and informing policy The book shows how academic social and economic institutions are responding to the increasingly complex process of decision making where citizens demand better services and further empowerment and states are obliged to seek wider counsel although wanting to retain ultimate authority With contributions from both academics and practitioners this book will be highly relevant for researchers and policymakers alike The Web of Geological Sciences: Marion E.
