Scientific Collaboration and Collective Knowledge Thomas Boyer-Kassem, Conor Mayo-Wilson, Michael Weisberg, 2018
Current scientific research almost always requires collaboration among several if not several hundred specialized researchers When scientists co author a journal article who deserves credit for discoveries or blame for errors How should scientific institutions promote fruitful collaborations among scientists In this work leading philosophers of science address these critical questions
Handbook of Corporate University Development Rob Paton, 2005 The emphasis on corporate universities has been a driving force in moving companies beyond a restricted approach to training to a central vision for learning within the organization However there have been failures and many corporate universities have struggled to bring a business rigour to learning or to align their development with the key business and financial drivers of the organization It is time for the Corporate University to demonstrate how business rigour handled deftly and with strong and perceptive leadership can revolutionize learning both inside and outside the organization The Handbook of Corporate University Development is an important catalyst towards this process It draws on experience from around the world to provide anyone responsible for strategy and learning at senior levels in government education and business with a picture of current best practice
