Its Memory Time:

The Memory of Thought Alexander García Düttmann, 2002-07-09 The Memory of Thought reconstructs the philosophy of Adorno and Heidegger in the light of the importance that these thinkers attach to two proper names Auschwitz and Germanien In Adorno's dialectical thinking Auschwitz is the name of an incommensurable historical event that seems to put a provisional end to history as a negative totality In Heidegger's thinking of Being Germanien is a name inscribed in an historical mission on which the fate of Western civilization seems to depend it thus becomes the name of a positive totality of history Frontiers of Computing Systems Research Stuart K. Storytelling and remembering rely on similar practices they both arrange images in an ordered structure A story is initially memorised by the author in a mental structure which is transferred to the page via the author's choice of location organisation and imagery An interpretation that emphasises these features enhances the natural capacity for comprehension by mimicking the memory process This study describes and uncovers memory systems including the memory palace and the memory journey in medieval texts The ancient memory techniques are compared to cognitive psychology and used to interpret four modern novels A practical method of interpretation is devised which provides the reader with direct access to a story by opening the door into the storyteller's memory palace The Ways of Knowing William Pepperell Montague, 1925

Frequency and the Emergence of Linguistic Structure Joan L. Bybee, Paul Hopper, 2001-01-01 A mainstay of functional linguistics has been the claim that linguistic elements and patterns that are frequently used in discourse become conventionalized as grammar This book addresses the two issues that are basic to this claim first the question of what types of elements are frequently used in discourse and second the question of how frequency of use affects cognitive representations Reporting on evidence from natural conversation diachronic change variability child language acquisition and psycholinguistic experimentation the original articles in this book support two major principles First the content of people s interactions consists of a preponderance of subjective evaluative statements dominated by the use of pronouns copulas and intransitive clauses Second the frequency with which certain items and strings of items are used has a profound influence on the way language is broken up into chunks in memory storage the way such chunks are related to other stored material and the ease with which they are accessed to produce new utterances The Southeastern Reporter ,1900
