New Approaches to Gone With the Wind James A. Crank, 2015-12-14 Since its publication in 1936 Gone with the Wind has held a unique position in American cultural memory both for its particular vision of the American South in the age of the Civil War and for its often controversial portrayals of race gender and class *New Approaches to *Gone with the Wind offers neither apology nor rehabilitation for the novel and its Oscar winning film adaptation Instead the nine essays provide distinct compelling insights that challenge and complicate conventional associations Racial and sexual identity form a cornerstone of the collection Mark C Jerng and Charlene Regeister each examine Margaret Mitchell's reframing of traditional racial identities and the impact on audience sympathy and engagement Jessica Sims mines Mitchell's depiction of childbirth for what it reveals about changing ideas of femininity in a postplantation economy while Deborah Barker explores transgressive sexuality in the film version by comparing it to the depiction of rape in D W Griffith's earlier silent classic Birth of a Nation Other essays position the novel and film within the context of their legacy and their impact on national and international audiences Amy Clukey and James Crank inspect the reception of Gone with the Wind by Irish critics and gay communities respectively Daniel Cross Turner Keaghan Turner and Rich Richardson consider its aesthetic impact and mythology and the ways that contemporary writers and artists such as Natasha Trethewey and Kara Walker have engaged with the work Finally Helen Taylor sums up the pervading influence that Gone with the Wind continues to exert on audiences in both America and Britain Through an emphasis on intertextuality sexuality and questions of audience and identity these essayists deepen the ongoing conversation about the cultural impact and influence of this monumental work Flawed in many ways yet successful beyond its time Gone with the Wind remains a touchstone in southern studies

Forest, Field, and Fallow Antoinette M.G.A. WinklerPrins,Kent Mathewson,2021-01-12 This volume aims to present the essential work of geographer and historical ecologist William M Denevan to explain the impact and influence his thinking had on the conceptual advancement not only in his own discipline but in a range of related disciplines such as anthropology archaeology and environmental history The book is organized around eight themes demonstrating Denevan's early and profound insights on topics that remain of current relevance today and the scholarly impact his writing had on subsequent scholarship The book is unique because it offers commentary from active scholars who address the impacts of Prof Denevan's thinking and work on contemporary environmental and ecological issues with a focus on several groundbreaking themes e.g historical demography agricultural landforms cultural plant geography human environmental impacts indigenous agro ecology tropical agriculture livestock and landscape and synthetic contributions This book will be of interest to a range of scholars in geography anthropology archaeology history and ecology as well as to environmental managers and practitioners especially those working for non profit organizations and government organizations tasked with finding ways to adapt to global environmental change

Speed Mating Jessica Sims,2013 Subjects and Simulations Anne O'Byrne,Hugh J. Silverman,2014-11-05 Subjects and Simulations presents essays focused on suffering and sublimity representation and subjectivity and the relation of truth and appearance in the twenty first century Inspired by the work of Jean Baudrillard Philippe Lacoue Labarthe and JeanLuc Nancy sixteen authors study how the real reasserts itself in an age of every more fragmented media and how art and literature give us access to forms of truth that elude philosophy How does representation grant us access to the place once occupied by the subject Is political life possible Can plural thinking be retrieved Will metaphor and simulation give us ways of being in an evanescent world The volume engages discussions of French and Continental philosophy post structuralism deconstruction simulacra aesthetics existentialism and media theory

Conflict, Democratization, and the Kurds in the Middle East David Romano,Mehmet Gurses,2014-08-13 In Turkey Iran Iraq and Syria central governments historically pursued mono nationalist ideologies and repressed Kurdish identity As evidenced by much unrest and a great many Kurdish revolts in all these states since the 1920s however the Kurds manifested strong resistance towards ethnic chauvinism What sorts of authoritarian state policies have Turkey Iraq Iran and Syria relied on to contain the Kurds over the years Can meaningful democratization and liberalization in any of these states occur without a fundamental change vis vis their Kurdish minorities To what extent does the Kurdish issue function as both a barrier and key to democratization in four of the most important states of the Middle East While many commentators on the Middle East stress the importance of resolving the Arab Israeli dispute for achieving peace in the Middle East this book asks whether or not the often overlooked Kurdish issue may constitute a more important fulcrum for change in the region especially in light of the Arab Spring and recent changes in Turkey Iraq Iran and Syria
