Academic Capitalism Richard Münch, 2014-04-16 This book investigates the intensifying struggle for excellence between universities in a globalized academic field The rise of the entrepreneurial university and academic capitalism are superimposing themselves on the competition of scientists for progress of knowledge and recognition by the scientific community The result is a sharpening institutional stratification of the field This stratification is produced and continuously reproduced by the intensified struggle for funds with the shrinking of block grants and the growing significance of competitive funding as well as the increasing impact of international and national rankings on academic research and teaching The increased allocation of funds on the basis of performance leads to overinvestment of resources at the small top and underinvestment for the broad mass of universities in the middle and lower ranks There is a curvilinear inverted u shaped relationship of investments and returns in terms of knowledge production Paradoxically the intrusion of the economic logic and measures of managerial controlling into the academic field imply increasing inefficiency in the allocation of resources to universities The top institutions suffer from overinvestment the rank and file institutions from underinvestment The economic inefficiency is accompanied by a shrinking potential for renewal and open knowledge evolution Open Access and the Future of Scholarly Communication Kevin L. Smith, Katherine A. Dickson, 2016-10-05 It is impossible to imagine the future of academic libraries without an extensive consideration of open access the removal of price and permission barriers from scholarly research online As textbook and journal subscription prices continue to rise improvements in technology make online dissemination of scholarship less expensive and faculty recognize the practical and philosophical appeal of making their work available to wider audiences As a consequence libraries have begun to consider a wide variety of open access flavors and business models These new possibilities have significant impact on both library services and collection policies and the call for new skills within library staffing Volume 9 of the series Creating the 21st Century Academic Library is the first of two addressing the topic of open access in academic libraries and focuses on policy and infrastructure for libraries that wish to provide leadership on their campus in the transition to more open forms of scholarship Chapters in the book discuss how to make the case for open access on campus as well as the political and policy implications of libraries that themselves want to become publishing entities Infrastructure issues are also addressed including metadata standards and research management services Also considered here is how interlibrary loan preservation and the library's role in providing textbooks support the concept of open access It is hoped that this volume and the series in general will be a valuable and exciting addition to the discussions and planning surrounding the future directions services and careers in the 21st century academic library Introducing Communication Research Donald Treadwell, Andrea Davis, 2019-07-30 Introducing Communication Research Paths of Inquiry teaches students the basics of communication research in an accessible manner by using interesting real world examples engaging application exercises and up to date
