Capacity Building in National Environmental Policy Helmut Weidner, Martin Jänicke, 2013-03-09 This book is the second collection of systematic case studies describing national environmental policies in 17 countries in terms of capacity building see Appendix. The OECD defines environmental capacity building as a society's ability to identify and solve environmental problems. While various institutions including UNEP, FAO, World Bank and OECD have hitherto used the terms environmental capacity and capacity building almost exclusively with reference to developing countries we have extended the concepts to industrialized countries as well. The first collection edited by Martin Jänicke, Helge Joergens, both Free University Berlin and Helmut Weidner, Social Science Research Center Berlin was published in 1997 under the title National Environmental Policies A Comparative Study of Capacity Building Berlin etc Springer Verlag. It included 13 studies of countries. As in the first volume chapter I presents the conceptual framework underlying the national case studies. It is a slightly shorter version of the corresponding chapter in volume I. The design of all case studies in the two volumes is largely congruent with this conceptual framework. Although the various sections of the studies do not always have identical titles and subtitles the central elements of the capacity building approach have been applied in all cases.
