

COMMON CORE STANDARDS PROGRESSIONS

Figure 1 consists of four scatter plots arranged in a 2x2 grid. The top row is labeled '1990 Census' and the bottom row is labeled '2000 Census'. The left column is labeled 'Number of children in the household' and the right column is labeled 'Number of children in the neighborhood'. Each plot shows a positive correlation between the two variables, with a regression line and a shaded confidence interval. The y-axis for all plots ranges from 0 to 1.0. The x-axis for the household plots ranges from 0 to 1.0, and for the neighborhood plots, it ranges from 0 to 2.0. The plots show that the relationship between the number of children in the household and the number of children in the neighborhood is positive and significant, with the confidence intervals widening as the number of children increases.
