

M47R diesel engine

Introduction

The diesel engine fitted to Rover 75 is known as the M47R (see Figure 1). This engine is a new member of the latest generation of diesel engines being developed by BMW and Rover engineers. It is made by BMW in Steyr, Austria.

Fitted with this engine, Rover 75 represents two firsts:

- It is the first British car with common rail diesel technology
- It is the first time a Rover car has been available with a diesel engine transmission

Equipped with a chain-driven overhead camshaft and four valves per cylinder, the M47R becomes Rover's first 'multivalve' diesel.

Common rail technology appeared for the first time at the end of 1997 with the Mercedes-Benz C126, which launched the 2.4-litre 156. Mercedes then launched a 2.2-litre common rail diesel engine in 1998, and the technology has also appeared in 150 cc vehicles. M47R is the first common rail diesel engine to be fitted to a car (common rail) in the BMW 3 series, and the six-cylinder M47R (common rail) is fitted to the BMW 5 and 7 Series.
