of Redmond toil feverishly to deliver features aimed at helping connect information workers to expensive and complex corporate servers They re just following the money Most of the revenue in the Office division comes from corporate customers Microsoft sells Office desktop licenses by the tens of thousands to corporations which then take their own sweet time to deploy the software As of last July nearly a year after the release of Office 2003 Information Week cited Microsoft estimates that about a third of its Office installed base was running Office XP and an even higher percentage were running Office 2000 and even Office 97 Although the majority of its corporate customers have purchased licenses for Office upgrades that entitle them to use Office 2003 they re still using older versions and many have no firm plans to switch to the most recent version Meanwhile the least heralded edition of Office 2003 has crept to the top of the sales charts and stayed there
