Analysis of Emerging Digital and Back-up Training Requirements Laura A. Ford,Roy C. Campbell,Robert Cobb,1998 Digitization is the future of the Army However along with digitization come training and personnel implications This report discusses training issues associated with digitization specifically those that address a need to train and maintain backup along with digital skills Backup skills are the individual and collective skills required when digital systems are degraded or unavailable The study focused on the digital M1A2 Abrams Main Battle training program as an exemplar Lessons learned about digital and backup training requirements should be applied in the M2A3 training program The study investigated issues that are applicable to a wide range of digital applications and training conditions The study examined individual and collective tasks that support tank operations and found both digital and backup tasks to be poorly defined particularly in collective performance A method for analysis is described and analytic results reported The study also outlines the current state of training armor and infantry soldiers and the impact that increased digitization may have on training pipelines The study employed a series of expert groups to define issues and formulate recommendations These groups included users developers researchers and trainers with a wide spectrum of experience and viewpoints Expert group results are reported and include 15 primary issues and accompanying recommendations Device-based Training of Armor Crewmen Gary A. Moody,1993 Using the Abrams Tank Crewman One Step Unit Training as a case study this study identifies alternative approaches for individual training and analyzes their cost implications It suggests that although the current course s content and length is consistent with job requirements in the initial duty assignment more efficient training techniques can be used in resident instruction The analysis shows that many armor specific tasks currently taught using tanks can be taught using training aids devices simulators and simulations TADSS In addition the amount of computer based training CBT can be increased in basic training Expanded use of TADSS to replace training on vehicles can provide substantial savings in operating and support costs but the level of costs and savings depends on how the devices and course changes are implemented If new trainers and simulators must be developed and procured savings will be cut The study also found that savings differ across devices Although substituting TADSS for tanks appears cost effective the evidence for CBT is mixed
