A cosmetics company is conducting a second-year review of one of its newest products. The marketing department expects that the firm will continue to earn profits from the sale of the product in the third year as it did in the past two years. Senior management, however, feels that the profit projections would vary based on other factors such as the price of the competitor's products, the actual level of sales, and the possibility of cost reductions. In other words, the senior management is undertaking _____. - Answer-a sensitive analysis

A firm's demand curve is given by $Q = 800 - 2P$, where P = price and Q = quantity. Therefore, its inverse demand equation is _____. - Answer- $P = 400 - .5Q$

To maximize profit, the firm should set output at the level where _____. - Answer-marginal revenue is equal to marginal cost.

Assume that a firm is producing at its profit-maximizing level of output. A decrease in the price of raw materials used in production is most likely to lead to _____. - Answer-a fall in the price of the good and an increase in the quantity produced.

Other factors constant, a change in _____ will cause a shift in a firm's demand curve. - Answer-the general income level of consumers

If the price of a good or service increases, what happens to the firm's demand curve? - Answer-There is an upward movement along the demand curve.

The price elasticity of demand is defined as the ratio of the _____ other factors held constant. - Answer-percentage change in quantity demanded to the percentage change in price

Managerial Economics and Organizational Architecture James A. Brickley, Clifford W. Smith, Jerold L. Zimmerman, 2004 This approach to managerial economics takes models from recent economic research and applies them to the internal structure of the firm After teaching basic applied economics the authors look inside the firm and apply this analysis to management decision making The general model used for this application is organizational architecture which consists of three aspects of corporate organization the assignment of decision rights within the company methods of rewarding individuals and the structure of systems to evaluate the performance of both individuals and business units These three elements must balance in an organization Managerial Economics & Organizational Architecture James A. Brickley, Clifford Smith, Jerold L. Zimmerman, 2007 With two distinct objectives this text's approach to managerial economics takes models from recent economics research and applies the research to the internal structure of a firm After teaching basic applied economics the authors look inside the firm and apply this analysis to management decision making Authors Brickley Smith and Zimmerman contend that organizational architecture consists of three aspects of corporate organization the assignment of decision rights within the company methods of rewarding individuals the structure of systems to evaluate the performance of both individuals and business units These three components can be likened to a stool with three legs If one of the legs is shorter the stool is out of balance These three elements must be in balance in the organization as well Schaum's Outline of Theory and Problems of Financial Management Jae K.
