Shaping Images Thorsten Stephan Beck, 2016-09-12 Images play an outstanding role in the transfer of knowledge They are used in numerous academic disciplines to present scientific results Digital tools such as Adobe Photoshop make it possible to display the information in images brilliantly and clearly at the same time the line between appropriate and inappropriate manipulation is not always easy to draw Scientific journals have published guidelines for handling and editing images but they are not always specific enough to provide clarity for all situations Shaping Images examines how scholars from biology information science art history and design deal with this uncertainty how they process and manipulate images where they see their special potential and how they draw the line between appropriate and inappropriate image manipulation The work also looks at scientific journals and lets selected editors have their say What would have to happen to make it possible to combat image manipulation in science more effectively The book s interdisciplinary approach makes it clear how different the practices are and how different the views are on what should be allowed in the processing of images Images this too is problematized in the book are always a means to a certain end which is precisely why the handling of images should be thoroughly reflected upon

Towards a Systemic Model for Terminology Planning Abolfazl Zarnikhi,2016-05-11 Previous work on terminology planning can be more or less divided into general guidelines local planning and translation based activities This book however by avoiding this line of research and any kind of prescription represents a movement towards generalisation as a prerequisite of theorisation Its research is predicated on the hypothesis that all terminological activities are founded upon some fundamental principles which at the same time are manifested through context bound variations or parameters A particular advantage of the book is its employing of both field research and a review of research literature The former allows it to carry out a comparative study by using a maximum variation sampling technique for gathering data from four language agencies of different ecolinguistic situations namely Termcat Catalan TNC Swedish DGLFLF French and the Academy of Persian Language and Literature in Iran In order to this it uses a questionnaire concentrating on the macro and micro structures of the target organisations as a route map The literature review allows the book to benefit from research documents from more than thirty sociolinguistic communities The book s unique feature includes the introduction of new concepts such as linguistics of science systemic terminology systemic planning terminology argumentation and sociocognitive terminometrics among others A further distinguishing feature is the fact that it discusses terminology not in a vacuum but as a component of the language of science system IEEE International Geoscience and Remote Sensing Symposium Proceedings ,2002 IGARSS 2002 ,2002
