

A woman in a white long-sleeved top and denim shorts is walking away from the camera on a sandy beach. She is holding a large, wide-brimmed straw hat over her head with both hands. In the background, a group of five people are walking away from the camera towards the ocean. The sky is overcast and the water is calm.

The Scarlett Letters John Wiley,2014-10-08 One month after her novel Gone With the Wind was published Margaret Mitchell sold the movie rights for fifty thousand dollars Fearful of what the studio might do to her story I wouldn't put it beyond Hollywood to have Scarlett seduce General Sherman she joked the author washed her hands of involvement with the film However driven by a maternal interest in her literary firstborn and compelled by her Southern manners to answer every fan letter she received Mitchell was unable to stay aloof for long In this collection of her letters about the 1939 motion picture classic readers have a front row seat as the author watches the Dream Factory at work learning the ins and outs of filmmaking and discovering the peculiarities of a movie crazed public Her ability to weave a story so evident in Gone With the Wind makes for delightful reading in her correspondence with a who's who of Hollywood from producer David O Selznick director George Cukor and screenwriter Sidney Howard to cast members Clark Gable Vivien Leigh Leslie Howard Olivia de Havilland and Hattie McDaniel Mitchell also wrote to thousands of others aspiring actresses eager to play Scarlett O'Hara fellow Southerners hopeful of seeing their homes or their grandmother's dress used in the film rabid movie fans determined that their favorite star be cast and creators of songs dolls and Scarlett panties who were convinced the author was their ticket to fame and fortune During the film's production she corrected erring journalists and the producer's over the top publicist who fed the gossip mills accuracy be damned Once the movie finished she struggled to deal with friends and strangers alike who fought and trampled little children and connived and broke the ties of lifelong friendship to get tickets to the premiere But through it all she retained her sense of humor Recounting an acquaintance's denial of the rumor that the author herself was going to play Scarlett Mitchell noted he ungallantly stated that I was something like fifty years too old for the part After receiving numerous letters and phone calls from the studio about Belle Watling's accent the author related her father was convulsed at the idea of someone telephoning from New York to discover how the madam of a Confederate bordello talked And in a chatty letter to Gable after the premiere Mitchell coyly admitted being feminine enough to be quite charmed by his statement to the press that she was fascinating but added Even my best friends look at me in a speculative way probably wondering what they overlooked that your sharp eyes saw As Gone With the Wind marks its seventy fifth anniversary on the silver screen these letters edited by Mitchell historian John Wiley Jr offer a fresh look at the most popular motion picture of all time through the eyes of the woman who gave birth to Scarlett The Michigan Alumnus ,1945 In v 1 8 the final number consists of the Commencement annual The Report of the British and Foreign Bible Society British and Foreign Bible Society,1908 Vols 1 64 include extracts from correspondence The Cube and the Cathedral George Weigel,2008-07-31 Why do Europeans and Americans see the world so differently Why do Europeans and Americans have such different understandings of democracy and its discontents in the twenty first century Contrasting the civilization that produced the starkly modernist cube of the Great Arch of La Defense in Paris with the civilization that produced the cathedral of Notre Dame George Weigel argues that Europe's embrace of a narrow secularism has led to a crisis of morale that is eroding Europe's soul and threatening its future with dire lessons for the rest of the democratic world Weigel traces the origins of Europe's problem to the atheistic humanism of the nineteenth century European intellectual life which set in motion a historical process that produced two world wars three totalitarian systems the Gulag Auschwitz the Cold War and most ominously the Continent's de population which is worse today than during the Black Death And yet many Europeans still insist most recently during the debate over a new EU constitution that only a public square shorn of religiously informed moral argument is safe for human rights and democracy Precisely the opposite Weigel suggests is true the people of the cathedral can give a compelling account of their commitment to everyone's freedom the people of the cube cannot Can there be any true politics any true deliberation about the common good and any robust defense of freedom without God George Weigel makes a powerful case that the answer is No because in the final analysis societies are only as great as their spiritual aspirations
